MRS. TAYLOR'S WILL IS HELD IMPROPER ONE

CHURCH REQUEST IN IT

Leaving Out of Amount for Methodist Church Is Unexplained Intention

What purported to be the last will and testament of Carrie Donnelly Taylor, well known pioneer resident of Bismarck, who died in Puyallup, Washington, August 29, 1924, has been disallowed by County Judge B. W. Shaw of Morton county, sitting in county court in this city for Judge I. C. Davies, and the estate will be distributed among heirs according to law.

An unexplained portion of the will, and which will not be in question since the will was disallowed, was a statement that she left a bequest to the Methodist Episcopal church of Bismarck, but not including any amount of the bequest. Various conjectures were raised as to whether Mrs. Taylor meant by this—what she intended that the residue of her estate after specific bequests amounting to $32,000 should go to the church or whether she left it blank intending to await future developments is not known. Mrs. Taylor gave the church $5,000 for a pipe organ.

The estate is estimated to be worth $100,000, of which about $80,000 is represented in Burlington county.

The will, which was typewritten, was disallowed because there was no affirmative declaration to witnesses by Mrs. Taylor that it was her last will and testament, according to F. A. Register, attorney for the executor, this, he said, being a mandatory requirement under North Dakota law. A declaration in the will was not sufficient, he said.

The will was not contested, no appearances being made in objection, but one sister living in the west did ask that affirmative proof be required to establish the will.

The purported will made September 1, 1922, began as follows:

"In the name of God, Amen.

"I, Carrie D. Taylor of Bismarck in the county of Burleigh and state of North Dakota, being of sound and disposing mind and memory, and considering the uncertainty of this frail and transitory life, do therefore make, ordain and publicly declare this to be my last will and testament.

"First, I order and direct that my executor, hereinafter named, pay all my debts and funeral expenses as soon after my decease as conveniently may be.

"Second, after the payment of such funeral expenses and debts, I give, devise and bequeath to the Methodist church of Bismarck, North Dakota,

There was a blank space after the sentence referring to the Methodist church, where Mrs. Taylor may or may not, according to attorneys and others, intended to name a sum to be given to the church.

Then followed specific bequests to many relatives, the highest being $3,000, and totalling $32,000, naming of J. L. Bell as executor and a few other provisions.

County Judge Shaw, in an order yesterday, named Mr. Bell administrator of the estate. His bond was fixed at $75,000. It is expected about 30 heirs will participate in it. The largest shares will go to John McCrory of Winona, Emmons county, a brother, and three sisters: Sarah Preavey, Red Wood Falls, Minnesota; Susie Fay, Medford, Minnesota; Katie Gardner, Sumner, Washington. Nephews and nieces will participate.

The will was witnessed by Eliza M. Suttle and Christina S. Dunn.

Control of federal patronage in North Dakota will be changed under the action of the Senate Republican conference in voting to refuse to re-appoint United States Senators B. F. Ladd and L. J. Frazier as Republicans in the make-up of the new Congress, after next March 4, in the opinion of political observers here.

If a similar action is taken in the House of Representatives in Washington, it is expected that James H. Burnett of the First District and Thomas Hall of the Second District would be expected to gain a considerable voice in patronage matters, if the other representatives of the state in the national Congress are "read out of the party."

L. B. Harrison Garnett, Republican national committeeman, would nominally be the distributor of patronage. It is held, outside of the influence of the two Congressmen expected to be regarded as regular.

The Real Republican State Committee probably would put in a bid for recognition along this line. It was claimed by B. F. Spaulding, chairman of the committee, that in the electoral suit in the supreme court, a stipulation was entered into by the electors whereby his committee was recognized as the Republican committee in North Dakota instead of that headed by R. The first indication that the national administration would cease dispensing jobs to LaFollette adherents in North Dakota, according to information in political circles here, came in the case of R. STOCK MARKET PRICES DURING WEEK ARE HIGH

Industrial Stocks Replace Rails in the Public Favor During Week

New York, Nov. 29.—(By the A. P.)—Maintaining its dominating position the stock market this week continued its onward sweep, ignoring such traditional deterrents to trading as a holiday interruption and a sharp rise in rail rates. The upward movement of prices was not so sustained as in the first two weeks following the election, however. Trading lagged somewhat early in the week, but was galvanized into renewed activity when a rally in steel shares led the whole list forward.

Industrial stocks replaced the rails in public favor, as tangible evidence of improvement in various fields of industry came to light. Predictions by E. H. Gary, head of the United States Steel Corporation, that the steel industry soon would be operating at capacity appeared to be well founded in the reports of heavy buying from all sources—railroads, building contractors, equipment, implements and automobile manufacturers. Prices of both pig iron and finished steel advanced and mill operations increased.

FARMERS TO ENTERTAIN TOWNSPEOPLE

LaMoure, N. D., Nov. 29.—Farmers and their wives in this community, who last year gained wide publicity by entertaining LaMoure townspeople at a turkey dinner held in the community building here, are going to repeat Dec. 4.

The event is in response and compliment to the series of golden rule market days which LaMoure has staged for more than the last year period and which have been featured by entertainment for visiting country people. The 15th of these special days will be held here Dec. 1.

FINANCING OF STATE'S MILL BIG PROBLEM

Legislature Probably To Be Faced With Necessity of Authorizing Credits

LAW HAM STRINGS IT

Lack of Capital Stock for the Institution Makes Financing Difficult

Methods of financing the continuing operations of the North Dakota state mill and elevator at Grand Forks begins to loom up as one of the major questions which may come before the state legislature, when it convenes on January 1. Some action by the legislature is believed to be imperative.

The present method of financing the mill and elevator is regarded as clumsy, and the difficulties which have been encountered in its financing and are faced in continued financing of the enterprise, go back to an amendment to the state constitution. Under the method of establishing the state industries, bonds cannot be issued except on mortgages on actual property. The state must acquire the property before it can issue the bonds and get the money needed for financing the institutions.

Article 31 of the state constitution provides:

"The state may issue or guarantee the payment of bonds, provided that all bonds in excess of two million dollars shall be secured by first mortgages upon real estate in amounts not to exceed one-half its value; or upon real and personal property of state-owned enterprises or industries, in amounts not exceeding its value, and provided further, that the state shall not issue or guarantee bonds upon the property of state-owned utilities, enterprises or industries in excess of ten million dollars."

In financing state enterprises, two million dollars of capital stock of the Bank of North Dakota was authorized, without the bonds being secured by property. A three million dollar bond issue was authorized to build the state mill and elevator at Grand Forks, and the property given as security against the debt.

When it came to financing the state mill and elevator, it was found that no capital stock was provided. It was necessary to start the mill, with no capital to run it. The Bank of North Dakota advanced money on transfer, or unsecured loan, until the last legislature met and authorized the issuance of milling bonds, which would be secured by grain, other inventory, bills of lading, cash, etc. It was necessary to buy the grain before the bonds could be issued. One million dollars of bonds have been issued as milling bonds.

Had the mill made a profit by this time, financing would be simple, since it would have needed capital. However, since the mill has incurred a large deficit, the problem becomes more difficult. The mill has pledged all of its property under mortgage, and if it desires to borrow $500,000 with which to purchase grain it must borrow the money without giving security. The money had been borrowed from the Bank of North Dakota. There are some officials who believe that the Bank, which has tax money which often is withdrawn at the time when the mill needs most money, cannot be depended on to finance the mill as long as it continues to lose.

The legislature, it is certain, will be called upon to consider the question of whether or not it will authorize issuance of any more milling bonds, since the $2,000,000 authorized in 1923 would, in view of past experience, be exhausted before the next legislature meets. It is not improbable that the legislature will also be faced with the question of levying an annual tax designed to raise $1,000,000 or $2,000,000 to be given to the mill management as capital stock, to help it in its operations.

BRITISH BREAK MUTINY; LAST ARE CAPTURED

Take Refuge in Compound of Hospital, Which Is Shelled by Troops

TWO OFFICERS DIE

British Also Lose Eight Wounded—London Sees Situation Still Serious

Cairo, Egypt, Nov. 29.—The surviving mutineers at Khartoum have given in to the British, it was officially announced here this afternoon.

The mutiny among the troops was confined to two platoons of the Eleventh Sudanese and the mutineers who survived surrendered after a bombardment of the compound of the Egyptian army hospital.

Two British officers were killed and eight men were wounded. The official announcement stated that the situation in Khartoum was well in hand.

The description from Khartoum of yesterday's mutinous outbreak, received here today, is different in no material respect from those made public from official sources in London yesterday, according to official information.

The main body of mutineers, the account states, took refuge in a building in the hospital compound which was shelled and demolished by artillery fire. One officer and 34 men of the mutineers are believed to have been killed. The remainder of the mutineers surrendered except for a small number being rounded up by the police.

The behavior of other Arab and Sudanese troops is characterized as excellent.

STILL SERIOUS

London, Nov. 29.—The Egyptian situation as the result of the latest messages, was described in official quarters this afternoon as serious but not critical. Interest centered in the Sudan, which appears to be quieted.

Telegraph communication with the Sudan was restored at 12:50 o'clock this afternoon, it was announced in an Agency dispatch from Cairo.

FRENCH WILL DISCUSS THEIR DEBT TO U. S.

Parley Is Planned at a Meeting to Begin on December 1, It Is Announced

Washington, Nov. 29.—The French debt to the United States will be discussed by the American debt commission at a meeting here Dec. 1. Members of the commission will be informed at that time of results of a series of conferences between Secretary Mellon and Ambassador Jusserand looking to a possible basis for refunding the French government's obligation, which is the second largest amount loaned by the United States to its associates during the World war.

See Results in Talks

Meetings between Mr. Mellon and the ambassador have been recently entirely informal and their discussions are understood to have been directed to a clarification of the understanding between the two governments with respect to the French fiscal position. The talks, however, are expected to lead to tangible results, although the meeting of the commission, which was called yesterday by Secretary Mellon, probably will do no more than go over the situation as it is now known by the treasury head.

In some quarters, it was indicated last night, there is a belief that a policy toward the French debt might grow out of the meeting of the commission and that a definite statement to that government of what the United States can and cannot do might be refused on these reports, however, and Mr. Mellon withheld information as the business to be taken up at the session further than to say that the commission will discuss the situation as it now stands.

Jusserand Is Through

M. Jusserand will leave for Paris, Jan. 6, to retire from the diplomatic service of his government. His talks with Mr. Mellon, therefore, take on the aspect of an effort by him to obtain an expression regarding the terms for refunding the debt which the American government can accept. The American commission always must have in mind, however, that its settlements are subject to congressional approval. It was explained, and the views given the French representative therefore have been of a character designed for information rather than statements definitive.

NOTRE DAME AT PITTSBURGH

Pittsburgh, Nov. 29.—Coach Knute F. Rockne used his entire second team on the field when Carnegie Tech and Notre Dame met here today in the final football game of the season. Carnegie crossed the Notre Dame goal in the first period for a touchdown. At the end of the second period the score was Notre Dame 13; Carnegie 6.

Army won the toss and Garbisch kicked off to Navy's 15 yard line. Navy immediately opened a forward pass attack but a pass was intercepted by Army and it was the Army's ball on the Navy's 18-yard line.

The Navy's heavy line smothered Army's rushes and Garbisch tried a field goal. It was blocked, but Army recovered and Garbisch tried again.

In the second period Army scored three points. At the end of the half the score was Army 3; Navy 0.

ASKS STATE TO PAY HIM $4,800 FOR ALLEGED FALSE IMPRISONMENT

Claim for $4,800 damages for false imprisonment has been addressed with Governor Nestor, the state board of administration "and all other officials having jurisdiction" by George Wick, who asserts he was falsely imprisoned both in the Cass county jail at Fargo and the state penitentiary. The petition has been referred to Attorney-General George F. Shafer for investigation. There is a state law under which such claims can be made, the Attorney-General said.

Wick, in his petition, says he, with Victor Mattson, Thomas Shipley and Elmer Johnson were sentenced on November 28, 1922, to 15 years in prison for the alleged crime of robbery in the first degree. They were tried in Fargo and sentenced by

SPECTACULAR GUN FIGHT IS STAGED IN STREETS OF MINNEAPOLIS WHEN BANDITS INVADH CHECK COMPANY BRINGS HOPE

Patrolman Is Saved From Death When Bullet Aimed at His Heart Is Stopped by His Watch—Many Pursue Bandits Through Loop District

Minneapolis, Nov. 29.—A spectacular gun fight in which a policeman escaped without injury because the bullet cracked his watch crystal but stopped short of his body, a second shot missed its mark aimed at another policeman, and two shots fired at three daylight bandits went wide, came on the heels of a holdup in the heart of the loop district here today.

Three bandits pursued by a police gun squad, two motor cabs, newsboys and motorists escaped with cash and checks totalling between $4,000 and $5,000 taken from the Alexander (Check Cashing Company) Bureau. Of the total taken $1,200 was in cash.

The bandits were just leaving the place when Patrolman Edward H. Johnson started in. Ordered there to accompany Sam Alexander, proprietor of the bureau to the bank, he had no inkling as to what was happening until one man shot straight at his heart. The bullet went through his coat, but stopped at his watch, breaking it.

The men ran to their automobile as Johnson cried "I'm shot." Patrolmen Kammers came on the run when he heard the single shot. Sighting the bandits he opened fire. As they stepped into the car they returned the fire, cracking nearby windows.

The bandits drove off and disappeared with motor cabs, motorists and gun squads in pursuit.

COOLIDGE ONE OF 78,000 AT GRID CONTEST

Army and Navy Meet in Their Annual Conflict in Baltimore Today

Final Score: Army 12; Navy 9. End third period: Notre Dame 27; Carnegie Tech 13.

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 29.—Love of football reached out today and gathered at the side lines here for the Army and Navy game the most notable crowd ever assembled for the annual gridiron encounter between the two service schools.

From all along the Atlantic seaboard and from far inland states special trains and hundreds of automobiles brought to the city thousands of fans and spectators to swell the crowd that turned out from the city itself. Among the early arrivals was President Coolidge, who temporarily put aside the government business to join thousands from the nation's capital who came here. He was accompanied by Mrs. Coolidge and Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Stearns, close personal friends.

Half hour before game time there was no doubt that the municipal stadium would be filled to its capacity of 78,000. With twenty-five minutes before the opening whistle it was estimated the stadium was filled to three quarters of the stadium.

Army won the toss and Garbisch kicked off to Navy's 15 yard line. Navy immediately opened a forward pass attack but a pass was intercepted by Army and it was the Army's ball on the Navy's 18-yard line.

The Navy's heavy line smothered Army's rushes and Garbisch tried a field goal. It was blocked, but Army recovered and Garbisch tried again.

BLOW SAFE IN BANK AND HOLD TOWN IN CHECK

Party Believed to be Six in Number Takes Complete Charge of Lafayette, Minn.

EFFORTS ARE FRUITLESS

Fail in Big Objective in Bank, According to Reports of Officers

Lafayette, Minnesota, Nov. 29.—(By the A. P.)—Bandits terrorized this town for more than two hours early today while they exploded 18 charges of nitroglycerine in an unsuccessful attempt to reach $8,000 in money and securities in the vault of the Farmers State Bank.

A citizen residing near the bank exchanged shots with the bandits outpost, but after that first display of opposition, the residents of the town, numbering nearly 350, remained under cover until the invaders departed. No one was injured.

The interior of the bank was completely wrecked and one explosion hurled the vault door through the front of the building, carrying with it two large plate glass windows. The damage to the building and fixtures approximates $4,000.

Strange Car in Town

Persons today recalled that a large sedan drove into town at 11 a. m. yesterday and remained parked on the business streets for sometime. It was 1:30 a. m. today when the town was roused by the first explosion at the bank. Before approaching the bank, the bandits drove into the town house of the Minneapolis and St. Louis Railroad here, taking crochets and other tools with which they forced entrance into the bank through rear doors. They cut all wires from the station as well as telephone wires leading from the town and posted men near the bank. There were at least six men in the bank, according to a few persons who ventured into advantageous positions to watch them work. After exploding the first charge in the bank, the bandits shot out the electric light in front of the building. The telephone operator, aroused by the explosion, turned on the lights of her office, about two blocks from the bank, but she was not molested. Frank Peterson, a well driller, who resides across the bank, heard the first explosion and grabbing his shotgun, stepped into his back yard. Twice he fired at the two bandit lookouts at the rear of the bank but neither shot took effect and as he dodged back to cover the bandits returned his fire with two shots which sped harmlessly over his head. That ended the shooting.

STANDARD OIL HAS PAID PART OF N. D. TAX

The Standard Oil Company of Indiana, which is fighting the state's method of apportioning income tax on it in federal court, has paid $29,178.46 of the tax claimed by the state for the years 1919, 1920 and 1921, according to Tax Commissioner C. C. Converse. It holds that $76,071.05 of the total tax of $105,249.51 is in excess of the proper levy. The method of taxation is involved, an intricate question of allocating the proper portion of the earnings of the company to North Dakota being the cause of the difference between the state department and the company.

Nieces To Get Harding Money Under Her Will

Marion, O., Nov. 29.—The bulk of the $500,000 estate of Mrs. Florence Kling Harding will go to the two grandchildren of the former president's widow, Jeanne and George Neely De Wolfe, aged 15 and 12 years, respectively, in accordance with Mrs. Harding's will, filed for probate. Most of Mr. Harding's estate went to his widow by an instrument of bequest executed before his death.

The bequest is to be held in trust for the two grandchildren until they are 28 years of age. During the interim they will receive only the income from the estate. The two children live here with their mother, Mrs. Roscoe D. Mezer. They are children of Mrs. Harding's son, Marshall E. De Wolfe, by a former marriage.

Many relatives and friends of the late president and his widow, both here and in Washington, were remembered by Mrs. Harding with substantial sums aggregating $56,000.

So robbery, authorities believe is the motive that led to her murder while her husband was out cutting wood for the cabin they intended building themselves.

Their adventure in less than two weeks had ended in tragedy.

Trading lagged somewhat early in the week, but was galvanized into renewed activity when a rally in steel shares led the whole list forward.

Industrial stocks replaced the rails in public favor, as tangible evidence of improvement in various fields of industry came to light. Predictions by E. H. Gary, head of the United States Steel Corporation, that the steel industry soon would be operating at capacity appeared to be well founded in the reports of heavy buying from all sources—railroads, building contractors, equipment, implements and automobile manufacturers. Prices of both pig iron and finished steel advanced and mill operations increased.

FINANCING OF STATE'S MILL BIG PROBLEM

Legislature Probably To Be Faced With Necessity of Authorizing Credits

LAW HAM STRINGS IT

Lack of Capital Stock for the Institution Makes Financing Difficult

Methods of financing the continued operations of the North Dakota state mill and elevator at Grand Forks begins to loom up as one of the major questions which may come before the state legislature, when it convenes on January 1. Some action by the legislature is believed to be imperative.

The present method of financing the mill and elevator is regarded as clumsy, and the difficulties which have been encountered in its financing and are faced in continued financing of the enterprise in back to an amendment to the state constitution. Under the method of establishing the state industries, bonds cannot be issued except on mortgages on actual property. The state must acquire the property before it can issue the bonds and get the money needed for financing the institutions.

Article 31 of the state constitution provides:

"The state may issue or guarantee the payment of bonds, provided that all bonds in excess of two million dollars shall be secured by first mortgages upon real estate in amounts not to exceed one-half its value; or upon real and personal property of state-owned enterprises or industries, in amounts not exceeding its value, and provided further, that the state shall not issue or guarantee bonds upon the property of state-owned utilities, enterprises or industries in excess of ten million dollars."

In financing state enterprises, two million dollars of capital stock of the Bank of North Dakota is authorized, without the bonds being secured by property. A three million dollar bond issue was authorized to build the state mill and elevator at Grand Forks, and the property given as security against the debt.

When it came to financing the state mill and elevator, it was found that no capital stock was provided. It was necessary to start the mill, with no capital to run it. The Bank of North Dakota advanced money on transfer, or unsecured loan, until the last legislature met and authorized the issuance of milling bonds, which would be secured by grain, other inventory, bills of lading, cash, etc. It was necessary to buy the grain before the bonds could be issued. One million dollars of bonds have been issued as milling bonds.

Had the mill made a profit by this time, financing would be simple, since it would have needed capital. However, since the mill has incurred a large deficit, the problem becomes more difficult. The mill has pledged all of its property under mortgage, and if it desires to borrow $500,000 with which to purchase grain it must borrow the money without giving security. The money had been borrowed from the Bank of North Dakota. There are some officials who believe that the Bank, which has tax money which often is withdrawn at the time when the mill needs most money, cannot be depended on to finance the mill as long as it continues to lose.

The legislature, it is certain, will be called upon to consider the question of whether or not it will authorize a large deficit, the problem becomes more difficult. The mill has pledged all of its property under mortgage, and if it desires to borrow $500,000 with which to purchase grain it must borrow the money without giving security. The money had been borrowed from the Bank of North Dakota. There are some officials who believe that the Bank, which has tax money which often is withdrawn at the time when the mill needs most money, cannot be depended on to finance the mill as long as it continues to lose.

BRITISH BREAK MUTINY; LAST ARE CAPTURED

Take Refuge in Compound of Hospital, Which Is Shelled by Troops

TWO OFFICERS DIE

British Also Lose Eight Wounded—London Sees Situation Still Serious

Cairo, Egypt, Nov. 29.—The surviving mutineers at Khartoum have given in to the British, it was officially announced here this afternoon.

The mutiny among the troops was confined to two platoons of the El-eventh Sudanese and the mutineers who survived surrendered after a bombardment of the compound of the Egyptian army hospital.

Two British officers were killed and eight men were wounded. The official announcement stated that the situation in Khartoum was well in hand.

The description from Khartoum of yesterday's mutinous outbreak, received here today, is different in no material respect from those made public from official sources in London yesterday, according to official information.

The main body of mutineers, the account states, took refuge in a building in the hospital compound which was shelled and demolished by artillery fire. One officer and 14 men of the mutineers are believed to have been killed. The remainder of the mutineers surrendered except for a small number being rounded up by the police.

The behavior of other Arab and Sudanese troops is characterized as excellent.

STILL SERIOUS
London, Nov. 29.—The Egyptian situation as the result of the latest messages, was described in official quarters this afternoon as serious but not critical. Interest centered in the Sudan, which appears to be quieted.

Telegraph communication with the Sudan was restored at 12:50 o'clock this afternoon, it was announced in an Agency dispatch from Cairo.

FRENCH WILL DISCUSS THEIR DEBT TO U. S.

Parley Is Planned at a Meeting to Begin on December 1, It Is Announced

Washington, Nov. 29.—The French debt to the United States will be discussed by the American debt commission at a meeting here Dec. 1. Members of the commission will be informed at that time of results of a series of conferences between Secretary Mellon and Ambassador Jusserand looking to a possible basis for refunding the French government's obligation, which is the second largest amount loaned by the United States to its associates during the World war.

See Results in Talks
Meetings between Mr. Mellon and the ambassador have been recently entirely informal and their discussions are understood to have been directed to a clarification of the understanding between the two governments with respect to the French fiscal position. The talks, however, are expected to lead to tangible results, although the meeting of the commission, which was called yesterday by Secretary Mellon, probably will do no more than go over the situation as it is now known by the treasury.

In some quarters, it was indicated last night, there is a belief that a policy toward the French debt might grow out of the meeting of the commission, and that a definite statement to that government of what the United States can and cannot do might be forthcoming. Official comment was refused on these reports, however, and Mr. Mellon withheld information as the business to be taken up at the session further than to say that the commission will discuss the situation as it now stands.

COOLIDGE ONE OF 78,000 AT GRID CONTEST

Army and Navy Meet in Their Annual Conflict in Baltimore Today

Final Score: Army 12; Navy 0. End third period: Notre Dame 27; Carnegie Tech 13.

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 29.—Love of football reached out today and gathered at the side lines here for the Army and Navy game the most notable crowd ever assembled for the annual gridiron encounter between the two service schools.

From all along the Atlantic seaboard and from far inland states, special trains and hundreds of automobiles brought to the city thousands of fans and spectators to swell the crowd that turned out from the city itself. Among the early arrivals was President Coolidge, who temporarily put aside the government business to join thousands from the nation's capital who came here. He was accompanied by Mrs. Coolidge and Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Stearns, close personal friends.

Half hour before game time there was no doubt that the municipal stadium would be filled to its capacity of 78,000. With twenty-five minutes before the opening whistle it was estimated the stadium was filled to three quarters of the stadium.

Army won the toss and Garbisch kicked off to Navy's 15 yard line. Navy immediately opened a forward pass attack but a pass was intercepted by Army and it was the Army's ball on the Navy's 18-yard line.

The Navy's heavy line smeared Army's rushes and Garbisch tried a field goal. It was blocked, but Army recovered and Garbisch tried again.

In the second period Army scored three points. At the end of the half the score was Army 3; Navy 0.

NOTRE DAME AT PITTSBURGH
Pittsburgh, Nov. 29.—Coach Knickerbocker used his entire second team on the field when Carnegie Tech and Notre Dame met here today in the final football game of the season. The petition has been referred to Attorney-General George F. Shafer for investigation. There is a state law under which such claims can be made, the Attorney-General said.

Patrolman Is Saved From

Death When Bullet Aimed at His Heart Is Stopped by His Watch—Many Pursue Bandits Through Loop District

Minneapolis, Nov. 29.—A spectacular gun fight in which a policeman escaped without injury because the bullet cracked his watch crystal but stopped short of his body, a second shot missed its mark aimed at another policeman, and two shots fired at three daylight bandits went wide, came on the heels of a holdup in the heart of the loop district here today.

Three bandits pursued by a police gun squad, 20 motor cars, newsboys and motorists escaped with cash and checks totalling between $4,000 and $5,000 taken from the Alexander Check Cashing Company Bureau. Of the total taken $1,200 was in cash.

The bandits were just leaving the place when Patrolman Edward H. Johnson started in. Ordered there to accompany Sam Alexander, proprietor of the bureau to the bank, he had no inkling as to what was happening until one man shot straight at his heart. The bullet went through his coat, but stopped at his watch, breaking it.

The men ran to their automobile as Johnson cried "In shot." Patrolmen Kammers came on the run when he heard the single shot. Sighting the bandits he opened fire. As they stepped into the car they returned the fire, cracking nearby windows.

The bandits drove off and disappeared with motor cars, motorists and gun squads in pursuit.

"I am a better Republican than some of those who attempted to read me out of the party," said Senator Ladd. "I am going to continue to represent the people of North Dakota to the best of my ability in spite of any action of the conference. I feel certain that my course in the senate has met with the approval of my people."

Senator Frazier's first comment was a laugh.

"They are not worrying me a bit," said he.

Nieces To Get Harding Money Under Her Will

Marion, O., Nov. 29.—The bulk of the $500,000 estate of Mrs. Florence Kling Harding will go to the two grandchildren of the former president's widow, Jeanne and George Neely De Wolfe, aged 15 and 12 years, respectively, in accordance with Mrs. Harding's will, filed for probate. Most of Mr. Harding's estate went to his widow by an instrument of bequest executed before his death.

The bequest is to be held in trust for the two grandchildren until they are 28 years of age. During the interim they will receive only the income from the estate. The two children live here with their mother, Mrs. Roscoe D. Mezger. They are children of Mrs. Harding's son, Marshall E. De Wolfe, by a former marriage.

Many relatives and friends of the late president and his widow, both here and in Washington, were remembered by Mrs. Harding with substantial sums aggregating $56,000.

BLOW SAFE IN BANK AND HOLD TOWN IN CHECK

Party Believed to be Six in Number Takes Complete Charge of Lafayette, Minn.

EFFORTS ARE FRUITLESS

Fail in Big Objective in Bank, According to Reports of Officers

Lafayette, Minnesota, Nov. 29.—(By the A. P.)—Bandits terrorized this town for more than two hours early today while they exploded 18 charges of nitroglycerine in an unsuccessful attempt to reach $8,000 in money and securities in the vault of the Farmers State Bank.

A citizen residing near the bank exchanged shots with the bandits outpost, but after that first display of opposition, the residents of the town, numbering nearly 350, remained under cover until the invaders departed. No one was injured.

The interior of the bank was completely wrecked and one explosion hurled the vault door through the front of the building, carrying with it two large plate glass windows. The damage to the building and fixtures approximately $4,000.

Stranger Car in Town

Persons today recalled that a large sedan drove into town at 11 a. m. yesterday and remained parked on the business streets for sometime. It was 1:50 a. m. today when the town was roused by the first explosion at the bank. Before approaching the bank, the bandits drove into the tool house of the Minneapolis and St. Louis Railroad here, taking crochets and other tools with which they forced entrance into the bank through rear doors. They cut all wires from the station as well as telephone wires leading from the town, and posted men near the bank. There were at least six men in the bank, according to a few persons who ventured into advantageous positions to watch their work. After exploding the first charge in the bank, the bandits shot out the electric light in front of the building. The telephone operator, aroused by the explosion, turned on the lights of her office, about two blocks from the bank, but she was not molested. Frank Peterson, a well driller, who resides across the bank, heard the first explosion and grabbing his shotgun, stepped into his back yard. Twice he fired at the two bank lookouts at the rear of the bank but neither shot took effect and as he edged back to cover the bandits returned his fire with two shots which sped harmlessly over his head. That ended the shooting.

STANDARD OIL HAS PAID PART OF N. D. TAX

The Standard Oil Company of Indiana, which is fighting the state's method of apportioning income tax on its federal court, has paid $29,178.46 of the tax claimed by the state for the years 1919, 1920 and 1921, according to Tax Commissioner C. C. Converse. It holds that $76,071.06 of the total tax of $105,249.51 is in excess of the proper levy. The method of taxation is involved, an intricate question of allocation, the proper portion of the earnings of the company to North Dakota being the cause of the difference between the state department and the company.

AUTHORITIES ARE SILENT IN MURDER CASE

Must Examine One More Witness, Says District Attorney Thompson

San Gabriel, California, Nov. 29.—Sheriff W. A. Shaw and Deputy District Attorney Thompson left here today without revealing what new evidence of importance they had obtained through a second autopsy on the body of William R. Lee, slain bank president, or through the opening of a locked box held jointly by Lee and Miss Mary Watkins, an affectionate friend, near whose San Bernardino mountain cabin, his body was found late Tuesday.

"We must examine one more witness whom I am not free to name," said Thompson, "before I can tell whether our work here will help to solve the mystery of Lee's death. This witness will be examined in San Bernardino today and on what he has to say will depend our future plan of action."

Lee's will was taken from his personal safety deposit box and was found to bequeath his estate to his widow and his daughter. The box that he had held jointly with Miss Watkins contained many letters and documents, most of which were returned to Mrs. Lee or Miss Watkins.

OFFICIALS OF MAXWELL SEE HUGE DEMAND

Detroit, Nov. 29.—Officials of the Maxwell Motor Corporation are declaring today that the nationwide reception being accorded Walter P. Chrysler's latest creation, the new good Maxwell, is the greatest and most enthusiastic ever given a Maxwell product. It is even more enthusiastic than the reception given the first good Maxwell three years ago. Thousands upon thousands of persons—the motoring public, automobile distributors and dealers, automobile factory representatives and factory executives from practically every motor car company, together with hundreds of newspaper and automobile trade publications men have swarmed to the Maxwell-Chrysler showrooms throughout the country to see the line of cars that publicly proclaims to be without a peer among four cylinder motor cars in the world, and from which, he adds, results have been achieved which surpass those hitherto attained from any four cylinder car. The tremendous and outspoken enthusiasm with which the public has greeted the new Maxwell permits us to arrive at but one conclusion," J. E. Fields, vice president in charge of sales, said yesterday "and that is that the new car is making just as profound a sensation as did the Chrysler itself. The reception being accorded it reminds me of that given the Chrysler last winter, when that car created the beginning of a demand that we have never been able to meet."

CAR SERVICE IS IMPORTANT

Why should there be twice as many establishments servicing cars as there are establishments selling cars?

Convicted in Connection With Train Robbery

Chicago, Nov. 29.—(By the A. P.) William J. Fahay, former postoffice inspector and James Murray, a local politician, recently convicted in connection with the two million dollar mail train robbery at Roundout, Illinois, last June 12, were sentenced to 25 years in the federal prison at Alton, by Federal Judge Clegg today.

Sentencing of Fahay and Murray, the convicted arch-plotters of what has been called the "greatest train robbery" followed general news trials to Murray and Fahay.

Sentencing of Willis, Willie, Jessie and Joseph Newton and Brent Glass, each the latter in charge of the actual robbery, was deferred until Monday by Judge Clegg.

TOTAL SENTENCES 177 YEARS

Chicago, Nov. 29. Prison sentences aggregating 177 years, the limit of legal punishment, were imposed by Federal Judge Clegg today on William J. Fahay, former postoffice inspector, and James Murray, local politician, convicted of plotting the $2,000,000 mail robbery at Roundout, Illinois, last June 12. The judge, however, stipulated that the sentences should run concurrently so that the actual maximum sentence to be served by each is 25 years.

ARMENIA EAGER TO ENCOURAGE COTTON FARMERS TO GROW COTTON

Livorno, Armenia, Nov. 29.—Armenian methods of cotton growing are being introduced into Armenia. A new cotton factory equipped with modern American machinery has just been completed in Livorno. At the present time more than 40,000 acres of cotton are under cultivation. This is 40 times greater than the acreage under cultivation in 1921. The Armenian government expects this year to produce 30,000,000 pounds of raw cotton. One factory in Livorno has an output of nearly 2,000,000 pounds a month.

In order to encourage farmers to cultivate their own cotton fields, the government is allotting them

All America Has Taken

The Chrysler To Its Heart

The Chrysler Six sells itself every time it exhibits its dashing appearance on road or highway. The contrast between it and other cars is so marked that the desire to own one is bred then and there. But that desire is as nothing compared to the delight induced later on. If its only charm were the charm of appearance, the attraction would soon wear off. But the Chrysler is just as unusually attractive as it looks. One after another it reveals these unusual qualities even before it gets under way. Just to sit in the car and look about reveals first a quality all Americans love—compactness, conservation of space, neatness, artistry and a complete elimination of unnecessary elements. You look up from the cradling comfort of the Chrysler as you pass other cars and almost laugh. You see needless height, needless bulk, needless weight, needless length as you never saw them before. Your motor is as compact as the car itself—a jewelled watch with the busiest, most alert, most effective flow of power you ever experienced. Your whole motoring world is changed for you—delightfully changed, economically changed, efficiently changed. That the American people have taken the Chrysler to their hearts is no surprise at all—it is a very natural, logical thing. They are almost extravagantly enthusiastic about the Chrysler because the Chrysler has shown them delights in motoring they have never known before.

Minneapolis, Nov. 29.—Thomas D. Schall's four-year old daughter, Betty, will guide him down the Senate aisle when he takes the oath of office in Washington next March. For the man who defeated Magnus Johnson, "dirt farmer" Progressive, for one of Minnesota's seats in the upper house, is blind.

He has been blind 17 years. An explosion of a cigar lighter cost him his sight in 1907, three years after he had hung out his law shingle here.

But his misfortune did not cause him to desert his law practice, nor did it keep him from going into Congress once he decided he would.

Sees With Heart

Ever since his accident, his wife has been his "eyes." But when the greatest honor of his career is conferred upon him, Schall is going to let Betty share it with him.

Often during his campaign speeches he has told the story of her climbing into his lap, rubbing her nose against his and saying:

"Daddy, can't you see me?" To which he replied:

"No, little curly head, I can't." Then after a moment of silence, so he relates, she said:

"Well, your heart sees me, doesn't it, daddy?"

And he assured her it did.

One could almost hear a pin fall whenever he told this story to the voters.

Schall really is an orator. And he knows it.

"I have exceptional ability of public speech," he says. "I have a high degree in my mouth which acts as a sounding board and my jaw is hung on loosely so that it waggles easily."

"But no credit is due me personally. The bulldog should have no credit for being a bulldog."

"The removal of sight throws a determined man back upon his mind, or his understanding, and through his mind he will come in contact with his soul, and through its feeling with the breadth of the infinite. And he will see and hear and feel things that are denied mere sight."

Dressed For Audience

Schall, with the help of his wife whom he calls his "better 99 percent," always knows how to make a hit with the different classes he has been called upon to address.

His rapidly improving. The many friends of this family rejoice with them.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Belle entertained at a Thanksgiving dinner, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Schmiedung and family.

Mr. and Mrs. John Merringdahl have as their company Mr. and Mrs. John Hansen and family of Tappen.

Another case of measles has broken out at the John Merringdahl home.

Mr. Ed. Erickson and his family of Minnesota, who have rented the L. A. Statenshus farm arrived and are very busy getting settled.

Mr. and Mrs. Jens Hansen spent Sunday at the Ole Newland home, coming over to become acquainted with their new grandson.

Christ Schoon and children, Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Hansen and Robert Sharp Sr., were Thanksgiving guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Basson.

Mrs. Christ Schoon spent Thursday evening for the sick at the Newland home.

When speaking to a group of working men during his campaign, he would shed his coat, exhibiting a pair of wide suspenders more common even than those Magnus Johnson always sports.

If it was a lumberjack audience, he appeared in a fiery red shirt.

He chewed tobacco when he thought the occasion demanded. His wife, after leading him onto the platform, would place a cuspidor where it would be handy for him, then touch his cane to it, so he would know just where to find it when necessary.

Changes Parties

If he turned in the wrong direction, so his words did not carry through the hall, his wife would turn him to face the audience just right.

When Schall first lost his sight, his wife said:

"Well, Tom, we won't have to sell lead pencils. We're going to keep on practicing law."

"You can try a lawsuit without your eyes as well as with them. People will trust a blind man if he has the ability just as quickly as a man with sight."

And so Schall stuck to his practice. His wife would do his reading and writing, and he would do the pleading.

So, too, has it been with him during the terms he served in Congress.

Schall started out as a Democrat. In 1912, he became a Bull Moose. In 1914, he ran for Congress as a progressive, and was elected over the candidates of the old parties.

Campaigned in Flivver

Again in 1919 he was successful as an Independent. In 1918, he obtained the Republican nomination, but showed his independence by voting for Champ Clark as speaker of the House, when his vote the other way would have named a Republican.

In his last campaign, Schall rode around in his old flivver, with his wife at the wheel.

It is the same old bus that used to carry him down to his office in Washington, when the family lived on the outskirts. The congressman and Mrs. Schall and their two boys, Tom Jr., now 13, and Richard, 10, all wore overalls then.

Frequently visitors to his office would find his wife, attired in jumpers, dusting off his books.

CRITICS IN MANY CITIES PRAISE MISS FARRAR'S "CARMEN" VERSION

Geraldine Farrar's version of "Carmen" to be presented at the city auditorium next Monday night, has scored a remarkable success in many of the large cities of the country, according to E. H. L. Vesperman, manager of the Auditorium. Among the cities in which it has won highest praise is Boston. The Boston Transcript paid a remarkable tribute to the showmanship of Miss Farrar in presenting the condensed version.

In addition to many fine artists, the company carries an 18-piece orchestra, Mr. Vesperman has been informed.

The Detroit Free Press writes: "The star has gathered about her a supporting company of very adequate strength, the work of Luigi Pasanati as Don Jose and Joseph Royer, the Escamillo measuring well up to the high level on which the whole production has been planned, while Emma Nee who has heard in the role of Micaela, has a voice of great strength and purity."

"In keeping with the stage settings is the richness of the costumes. Here Miss Farrar has spared little, the color and dash of her garb for the final act creating wide comment."

"An excellent orchestra is provided for the tour, and Mr. Peroni read the score with vivid insight, bringing out every dramatic factor for the re-arranged text. Incidental dances by four members of the troupe added to the spectacular features of the Fantasia."

Kansas City Journal, Oct. 23rd, 1924 writes: "Miss Farrar in triumph here."

Since March 3rd, 1875, when Carmen was first produced at the Opera Comique in Paris, many things have changed, but the music of this opera has remained untouched by the tarnishing work of time and other pernicious elements, and it is as it sounded in Ivanhoe Temple last night a masterpiece, regardless of change, subtraction and addition, and irrespective of the fact that the performance could go down in history as a personal triumph for Geraldine Farrar.

"No one, of course, could safely attempt to question the part played by garments of silk, lace mantillas, and huge combs, in making this modernized edition an unforgettable one."

"Then too, the quaint atmosphere of Seville, the palm reading scene, the smugglers and certain other striking contrasts were there visible and tangible, as if to make an audience realize that opera was created primarily to talk to the mind through the eye and ear simultaneously."

Kansas City Times writes: "Miss Farrar Wins Again. Her Operatic Fantasy a Charming Affair."

"Geraldine Farrar's operatic fantasy is a clever gesture, and a right pertinent one too. She dishes up her favorite role to suit herself and takes it into the byroads and gets it over too."

"After all these years Miss Farrar makes her gypsy flame as of old. She is temperament on springs and all without one superfluous gesture."

There comes that moody and emotional liking of one young creature for another that we call "puppy love."

When your boy comes to you and says, "Mother, I'm going over to Clare's tonight. She's going to help me with my English theme," you will know that that's what the matter with him—puppy love.

And a lot hangs upon the way you answer him—his attitude toward women all the rest of his life perhaps. For this is the time when your boy's character is growing along with his beard.

So don't "kid" him as if love, even puppy love, were a joke. It isn't.

Above all, don't take him aside and talk to him about "treating Clare as if she were his own sister."

If he's reached his teens and doesn't know right from wrong, he never will know it. Your job was to teach him that 10 years before.

A girl at 17 is not half so helpless as the boy of the same age. She knows more about some things than he will at 20.

For one thing, she matures more quickly. And she has the well known feminine intuition that is as useful and practical as a railroad timetable.

It's intuition that tells her when when they danced they danced—extremely.

I listened to their conversation. Imagine, they were talking about radios!

"Don't you ever stay up to hear the 'Kansas City Night Hawks'?" the boy was saying.

Just leave a well-brought-up girl and boy to themselves, and not much more harm will come to them than to two babies playing in a sand-pile.

Very often if you forbid a boy or girl to "go around with" another boy or girl, those are the very ones that lure them most.

For youth is inquiring and stubborn. It's going to know why certain people aren't so desirable as others from a parent's standpoint, if possible.

I sat having dinner in a very gay restaurant the other night. At the next table were a smart young flapper and the type of boy we call the cake-eater.

The girl was rouged, the boy's patent-leather hair was shiny, and

ABOLITION OF WASTE HELD TO BE STEP AHEAD

Secretary Hoover, in Annual Report, Tells of Progress In This Line

ALSO ON EMPLOYMENT Steps Taken by Government To Reduce Unemployment Told by Secretary

Washington, Nov. 28.—"Elimination of national waste," is the keynote of Secretary Hoover's annual report, made public at the Department of Commerce today. Under this head Mr. Hoover reviews the accomplishments of the department during the first three years of the present administration, notably in the fields of unemployment, seasonal construction, coal, copper, standardization, simplified practice, cooperative marketing, and the reduction of housing costs. Trade association activities are discussed from the same angle. The Conference on Street and Highway Safety, to be held at the Department next month, is referred to as an effort to cope with "the most challenging of all wastes—the waste of human life."

A definite constructive national program has been developed for the elimination of waste in our economic system," says Mr. Hoover. "The need is clear. The American standard of living is the product of high wages to producers and low prices to consumers. The road to national progress lies in increasing real wages through proportionately lower prices. The one and only way is to improve methods and processes and to eliminate waste. Just as twenty years ago we undertook nationwide conservation of natural resources, so now we must undertake nationwide elimination of waste. Regulation and laws are of but minor effect on these fundamental things. But by well-directed economic forces, by cooperation in the community, we can not only maintain American standards of living—we can raise them.

Par From Perfect
"We have the highest ingenuity and efficiency in the operation of our industry and commerce of any nation in the world. Yet our economic machine is far from perfect. Wastes are legion. There are wastes which arise from widespread unemployment during depressions, and from speculation and overproduction in boom; wastes attributable to labor turnover and the stress of labor conflicts; wastes due to intermittent and seasonal production, as in the coal and construction industries; vast wastes from strictures in commerce due to inadequate transportation, such as the lack of sufficient terminals; wastes caused by excessive variations in products; wastes in materials, arising from lack of efficient processes; wastes by fire, and wastes in human life.

"Against these and other wastes the Department, acting always in cooperation with the industries, has for the past three years developed an increasing definite program. At these manifold activities of the Department are based upon cooperation with industry and commerce, none of them leads to paternalistic ends. At the outset the Secretary reviews briefly the work of the National Conference on Unemployment in 1921, and says that the report on "Unemployment and the Business Cycle" did much to curb the beginnings of a dangerous boom in the spring of 1922.

In response to the need for more adequate industrial statistics, as stressed in the Business Cycle Committee's report, the Department inaugurated the publication of the monthly "Survey of Current Business," which has been steadily expanded until it now covers 1,400 separate items.

A second committee from the Unemployment Conference undertook the study of seasonal operation in the construction industries. This committee made its report last July. "The report showed conclusively that season, not climate, is mainly responsible for the seasonal ups and downs in building, and that these evils are largely unnecessary and can be eliminated," says Mr. Hoover. "For most types of construction it is now possible to build the year round in all parts of the United States. The elimination of these wastes would strengthen the entire business structure, for construction is the balance wheel of American industry. The value of yearly construction in the United States is more than $5,000,000,000. If building falls off, there is always a slackening in many other lines of industry, resulting in unemployment, decreased purchasing power of employees, and further depression."

Coal Industry
The annual report then turns to the bituminous coal industry. Investigations made early in the present administration revealed the high instability of this industry and the fact that it was functioning at great national loss. Of accomplishments in this field Mr. Hoover says: "Through cooperation of trade associations of the principal industrial consumers, through chambers of commerce and public utilities a large amount of regular summer storage has been induced. Through the fine cooperation of the railways greater equipment and terminal facilities have been provided and car shortages have been largely eliminated. Through cooperation by the department with the unionized operators and with the leaders of the United Mine Workers a long term agreement has been entered upon, which insures industrial peace in the industry.

Demoralized for Time
"It is true that during the past few months the industry has been somewhat demoralized by the large stocks of coal accumulated in anticipation of a possible strike last spring, and by the lessened demand during the summer. The broad result of gained stability, however, has been that the public has received its coal during the last fiscal year at the lowest price of any year since before the war. The past year, as compared to the year 1920, shows a saving to the consumer of about one billion dollars, which must be reflected in decreasing costs of production in every avenue of industry and commerce."

The programme of the Northeastern Superpower Committee, under Mr. Hoover's chairmanship, is discussed in another effort in the direction of waste elimination. Revision of federal and state purchasing specifications, under the auspices of the Bureau of Standards, is still another. Industrial research work undertaken by the Bureau, in cooperation with the industries concerned, and with a view to improvement in technical processes, is still another. There was also established in the Bureau a Division of Simplified Practice, to help eliminate the wastes arising from unnecessary diversification.

ATOM "DISCOVERY" FINDS WASHINGTON SKEPTICAL

BY CHARLES P. STEWART
NEA Service Writer

Washington, Nov. 28. If Dr. T. F. Wall of Sheffield (England) University really has discovered a means of breaking up atoms at reasonable cost, as he says he has, scientists at the government bureau of standards here declare the world is due for a period of change such as never was known before in its history.

The bureau of standards experts are frankly skeptical, however. Not that atoms cannot be disintegrated. Sir Ernest Rutherford of Cambridge disintegrated some 10 or 15 of them—one after another.

By the use of radium particles he succeeded in directing an electrical beam into the atom's interior and blew it up, literally. But to do this he had to generate several million watts of electricity, at a cost of several hundred dollars, and all he got in return for his trouble and expense was half a watt of atomic energy.

Thought It Unprofitable
Sir Ernest figured he could get one millimeter of hydrogen, which is the source of the atom's power, out of an atom of aluminum, by using all the alpha particles in one gram of radium, costing $100,000.

Consequently he gave it as his opinion that atomic energy never could be developed profitably.

The bureau of standards experts incline to agree with him, though of course they're waiting to hear more concerning Dr. Wall's method before making up their minds definitely.

An atom really, they explain at the bureau, is a miniature solar system, with negative electrons revolving around a positive sun.

Scientists have found means of attracting the electrons away from the sun, but it is in the sun itself that the atom's energy resides. Little as it is, the sun is so energetic that, were all this energy released at one pop, with no preliminary precautions, it's possible the concussion would shatter the big sun we live under and all its planets.

At least, so the experts say. Obviously, then, Dr. Wall is monkeying with an extremely high-power explosive.

Would Do Wonders
But under proper control, atomic power, economically developed, undoubtedly would do wonders for the human race.

For instance, it is estimated that the controllable power derived from the atoms contained in six teaspoonsful of water would send a dreadnought across the Atlantic.

Obviously the day of coal is past if Dr. Wall has learned how to utilize atomic energy. The day of hard work is past also. The whole machinery of the world will be run by a few scientists sitting in a laboratory extracting the pep from a few little particles of matter too small to be seen through the strongest microscope.

No, the bureau of standards experts do not believe Dr. Wall has accomplished it—not yet awhile.

BUILDINGS TO BE ASKED FROM LEGISLATURE

Recommendations Made By Heads of Various Institutions for Consideration

REPORT CONGESTION

Increase in Various Institutions in the State Necessitates Buildings

Numerous recommendations for action by the legislature for the various penal, charitable and correctional institutions are placed before the North Dakota legislature, which convenes January 6, in reports of heads of the institutions.

Erection of two buildings at the state training school in Mandan for girls, building of an administration building, providing equipment for the new gymnasium and improving existing buildings are among the recommendations made for improving the physical property at the school, by Superintendent W. F. McClelland. A cold storage plant, another addition are needed, Mr. McClelland says, pointing out that the population of the institution is increasing rapidly.

Abolition of the 12-hour shift for guards in the North Dakota prison is recommended by Warden John J. Lee, who says the 12-hour shift is a longer day of work than required of employees in any other penitentiary. He would put all tower and cell house men on an 8-hour day basis.

Provision for a full-time social worker at the state hospital for the insane at Jamestown is necessary if this department is to function satisfactorily, says Dr. A. W. Guest, superintendent. The social service worker could cooperate with other such workers and community organizations in the state to good advantage, he says.

Would Extend Building
Appropriation of $50,000, to be added to $25,000 appropriated by the last legislature and not spent, for extension of the convalescent dining room is also urged by Dr. Guest, who says that the present dining room space is inadequate.

He also recommends a $2,000 fund for amusements, building of a nurses' home costing $100,000, building two cottages for department heads and appropriations for furniture and furnishings, as well as providing for a warehouse and other improvements.

Present congestion in the school for the feeble-minded at Grafton may be relieved only by additional buildings, it is said. An appropriation of $150,000 for a new women's building is urged. Purchase of additional land, improvement of existing buildings and making of various repairs is urged.

Need New Building
Building of an industrial building, to facilitate the work of educating students in the school for the deaf at Devils Lake, is urged in the report of the superintendent of that institution. It is estimated that the cost would be $50,000. Completion of one unit of the school building and purchase of additional land is recommended.

Dr. J. G. Lamont, superintendent of the tuberculosis sanatorium at Dunsmuir, holds that institutional treatment is better than home treatment for tuberculosis, and the extent of the institution's scope of activities should be limited only by what the legislature believes it can afford to spend in caring for tuberculosis patients and stamping out the disease.

A fund was raised of about $1,000 in 1923 by the tuberculosis seal sale to augment a former fund of $8,000 raised by the Degree of Honor to go towards building a $100,000 children's building at Dunsmuir, he says. Some types of buildings for children could be built for much less money, he points out. An appropriation of $100,000 for a new addition to the infirmary is recommended.

G. O. P. OUSTER EXPECTED TO AFFECT STATE
Follette campaign headquarters were up until that time. Since the election, Mr. Frazier has said that he was denied the job because of political activities, and he is willing to accept a position in the state legislature. He will retire as clerk of court in Divide county in January.

In the past Senators Frazier and Ladd and all Congressmen have been recognized to a considerable extent in the naming of postmasters in the state. They have controlled the appointment of several of them, recommending the successful candidate from the list of eligibles.

Government circles concerned with fiscal policies received the information that steps were being taken by France looking to a refunding settlement with undisputed satisfaction. To them it meant another move in the direction of cutting more off of the great public debt, much of which was built up through borrowings from the American people with which to advance funds to the allied powers.

DEATH TOLL IN TONG WARFARE RISES; POLICE PLACED ON GUARD

Failure of Truce to Last Is Followed by Several Attacks—One Shot in Laundry, Two Probably Fatally Wounded and One Is Stabbed

New York, Nov. 29.—Police were prepared today to take drastic measures to prevent further bloodshed in further hostilities between members of the Chinese gangs.

Several hours before the end of an armistice between the Hip Sing and On Leung gangs, a shooting broke out in the laundry, was shot to death in his laundry. Within 36 hours two other men were probably fatally wounded and one was stabbed to death as he slept in a Chinese tenement.

The two men were shot shortly after a meeting between the Chinese consul-general and acting police commissioner John H. Leach last night at which the police officials promised all necessary action to halt the bloodshed and ordered patrolmen stationed in all laundries and other places where outbreaks might be expected.

FURNACE DEATH MYSTERY YET IS UNSOLVED

Stains Found in Home Develop Not to be Blood Spots as Was Feared

STILL HUNTING CLUES

Columbus, O., Nov. 29.—Nothing which might be of any value in clearing the veil of mystery surrounding the practically cremated body of Mrs. Addie Sheatsley in the furnace of Christ Evangelical Lutheran church parsonage November 17 was unearthed during a six and a half hour examination of the three other members of the Sheatsley family yesterday and last night, according to County Prosecutor John R. King.

The Rev. C. B. Sheatsley, husband of the victim and his two sons, Milton, 20, and Clarence, 16, were questioned at length by Mr. King and his assistants. Search for a youth wearing a light cap who, according to detectives entered the basement of a house in the fashionable Boxley district not far from the parsonage about one o'clock on the day of tragedy was being made today.

From the basement of the house, the wife of the owner said the youth sought to gain entrance to the upper part of the house through a door which was locked. The woman told detectives the rear door of the house had been fastened from the outside. The youth, she told detectives, escaped through a side door leading to the basement, through which he had entered. She furnished police with a description of him. Her name was not made public.

Prosecutor King will have a conference with his aids today. Further activities, he said, will depend on the report of scientific experts who have conducted experiments with guinea pigs in an effort to learn how much, if any, carbon monoxide is developed by the furnace. Analysis of brownish stained articles found in the parsonage which first were thought by the authorities to have been human blood showed they were not, Mr. King was informed.

NEW HIGHWAY GIVES ROAD TO BISMARCK

Wishek, N. D., Nov. 29.—People of Logan and McIntosh counties are rejoicing over the fact that the Wishek-Burnstead-Napoleon highway is now nearly completed.

This road is known as Highway No. 10, and is now passable between Wishek and Napoleon, only about two miles being very rough. The road will be completed for inspection early next spring.

Highway No. 10 begins on the state line, about six miles south of Ashley and runs north by way of Wishek, Napoleon, Steele, Harvey, Rugby, Dunsmuir, then west along the south edge of the Turtle Mountains to Bottineau and then north to the Canadian line. There are several stretches on this road which are not completed, among them being six miles south of Ashley, eight miles in the north end of Logan county (the contract for this was let recently and the road will be finished some time next summer) and several places in the northern part of the state.

People from this end now have a graded road to Bismarck, with the exception of the eight miles in Logan county.

Offering at Service Given Two Agencies

The offering received at the Union Thanksgiving Service at the Evangelical church was $64.00, according to a report made today, the amount being equally divided between the North Dakota Children's Home in Fargo and the Society for the Friendless of Bismarck. Rev. C. F. Strutz, president of the ministerial association, today expressed pleasure over the attendance and the spirit shown by the pastors and congregations of the churches participating. The men's chorus, made up of members of choirs of the various churches, was especially praised. Rev. Walter E. Vater, new pastor of the McCabe Methodist Episcopal church, who preached the sermon, pointing to the various things North Dakotans especially have to be thankful for this year, was introduced through the service to many people beyond his own congregation.

RIVER IS NOW FROZEN OVER

The Missouri River is officially closed. The weather bureau reported the channel frozen at 1:20 yesterday afternoon. There was a bare possibility that mild weather today would cause the river to reopen. Last year it closed on December 19.

$30,000 School Bonds Taken Up By Local Board

The school board, in meeting yesterday afternoon authorized taking up of $30,000 of school bonds, there being sufficient funds in the sinking fund of the school board. The bonds are not due until April, 1931. The bonds to be taken up are owned by the state board of university and school lands, and are $5,000 of bonds for the high school site and part of the bonds for the high school building, there being $15,000 of these bonds due in April, 1931.

The payment will leave $195,000 of school bonds outstanding. The board took up $20,000 of bonds last spring.

HEALTH'S KEYBOARD
The music master can, by skillful touch and manipulation of stops and valves on the keyboard of the organ, produce harmony.
The Chiropractor works upon the spinal column with the same masterful skill, and by his expert adjustment of any sub-luxation of the vertebrae, brings about a normal harmonious condition in the body, and health results. The brain is the dynamo wherein all life currents are concentrated. The nervous system transmits these life currents to the various portions of the body. Pressure on a nerve at the opening where it leaves the spinal column will obstruct the natural flow of the health-giving currents and cause disease in that organ or tissue which the nerve feeds. The Chiropractor relieves the pressure and enables Nature to restore health.
Wonderful results have been obtained, even in stubborn cases, after Chiropractic adjustments have placed the sufferer in tune with the healing forces of Nature. Let Nature Make You Well.

BUILDINGS TO BE ASKED FROM LEGISLATURE

Recommendations Made By Heads of Various Institutions for Consideration

REPORT CONGESTION

Increase in Various Institutions in the State Necessitates Buildings

Various recommendations for action by the legislature for the various institutions are placed before the North Dakota legislature, which convenes January 6, in reports of heads of the institutions.

Head of two buildings at the state training school in Mandan for girls, building of an administration building, providing equipment for the new gymnasium and improving existing buildings are among the recommendations made for improving the physical property at the school, by Superintendent W. F. McClelland. A cold storage plant, another addition to machinery and other additions are needed, Mr. McClelland is pointing out, that the population of the institution is increasing rapidly.

Abolition of the 12-hour shift for guards in the North Dakota prison is recommended by Warden John J. Lee, who says the 12-hour shift is a longer day of work than required of employees in any other penitentiary. He would put all tower and cell house men on an 8-hour day basis.

Provision for a full-time social worker at the state hospital for the insane at Jamestown is necessary if this department is to function satisfactorily, says Dr. A. W. Guest, superintendent. The social service worker could cooperate with other social workers and community organizations in the state to good advantage, he says.

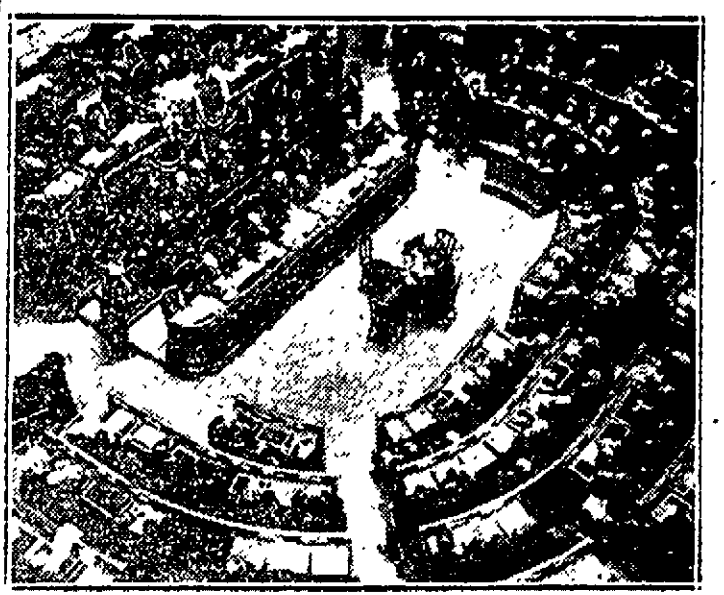

Would Extend Building. Appropriation of $50,000 to be added to $25,000 appropriated by the last legislature and not spent for extension of the convalescent dining room is also urged by Dr. Guest, who says that the present dining room space is inadequate.

He also recommends a $20,000 fund for amusements, building of a nurses' home costing $200,000, building two cottages for department heads and appropriation for furniture and furnishings, as well as providing for a warehouse and other improvements.

Present congestion in the school for the feeble-minded at Grafton may be relieved only by additional buildings, it is said. An appropriation of $100,000 for a new women's building is urged. Purchase of additional land, improvement of the present buildings and making of various repairs is urged.

Need New Building. Building of an industrial building, to facilitate the work of educating students at the school for the deaf at Devils Lake, is urged in the report of the superintendent of that institution. It is estimated that the cost would be $100,000, completed on an acre of the school building and purchase of additional land is recommended.

DEATH TOLL IN TONG WARFARE RISES; POLICE PLACED ON GUARD

Failure of Truce to Last Is Followed by Several Attacks—One Shot in Laundry, Two Probably Fatally Wounded and One Is Stabbed

New York, Nov. 29. Police were placed today to take drastic measures to prevent further bloodshed in further hostilities between members of the Chinese gangs.

Several hours before the end of an armistice between the Hip Sing and On Leung Thais, Chong Seng, an On Leung member, was shot to death in his Bronx laundry. Within 36 hours two other men were probably fatally wounded and one was stabbed to death as he slept in a Chinese tenement.

The two men were shot shortly after a meeting between the Chinese consul-general and acting police commissioner John H. Leach last night at which the police officer's permission of all necessary action to halt the bloodshed and ordered policemen stationed in all laundries and other places where outbreaks might be expected.

THE STATE'S OLDEST NEWSPAPER
(Established 1873)

FINANCING THE STATE MILL

The board of managers of the state-owned flour mill and elevator, meeting in Grand Forks earlier in the week with the majority of the state industrial commission, is said to have considered the question of future financing of the enterprise. An examination of the situation made here is sufficient to disclose that some positive action on the part of the forthcoming session of the legislature will be necessary.

It will be an excellent opportunity for presentation of a clear-cut, straightforward policy in reference to this institution, which is taking so much of the taxpayers' money.

The state mill and elevator is a unique institution—it is not a capital stock. Perhaps its progenitors expected that it would make money from the very start, and did not need any capital stock. But before it started its entire equipment and buildings were mortgaged. The major method of financing provided was to mortgage the grain and flour after it had been bought and made. The only other sources of revenue have been to borrow from the Bank of North Dakota or private banks, without security.

The legislature will have to authorize the issuance of milling bonds—bonds on which the mill obtains the major portion of its operating capital. To get other funds will have to dig deeper into the Bank of North Dakota. The legislature will have to try and levy a tax to get funds from the bank. If the mill is to run, the better course would be for the legislature to levy a tax of $1,000,000 to be used in operating the mill and elevator. The taxpayer must pay the long run if the mill loses; to levy a tax to give it vital would be an ever-present reminder to the taxpayers the load the institution has become on his pocketbook.

The legislature may well set a limit upon the extent to which it is willing to finance the further "experiment" at Grand Forks. The "experiment" would satisfy most individuals—would have bankrupted them by this time. If this bill is to run, let it run on tax money in such a way that all the people will know it is being operated on tax money. Let it must run, let the legislature say to the management: Take a million dollars of tax money, and when this is gone close up the mill.

In the difficulties of the situation being faced, there is least hope that equivocation on the subject of this enterprise may cease, and a straight and honest course outlined.

MOVIES

The Chicago has a movie theater seat for every 18 of its population. Figuring three shows a day, with reels changed twice a week, about half the population must attend regularly. Probably typical of the situation nationally. What on earth did we ever do for amusement before the movies came? "Cream" "socials" and picnics would seem very dull to most people now.

Over half of Chicago movie theaters have disappeared in the last eight years. The tendency is toward super-theaters, featuring elaborate productions. The neighborhood movie, however, will be a permanent institution—until we get our movies by radio, production costs endowed by government and philanthropists.

STIMULANT

Sugar was fed to Yale's soccer team to increase the physical energy of the players. The purpose was mainly to add to the theory that depletion of the supply of sugar in the blood is what causes exhaustion of athletes. Professors' results were "noticeable but not convincing."

Maybe we are sliding into the time when athletes will be given laboratory products, medicated before contests. Skill and stamina count more than brute strength, however, and these are beyond the reach of the chemist.

PUBLIC LAND

Uncle Sam now owns only about 187 million acres of public lands, not counting forest reserves and Indian and franchise reservations in continental United States. These 187 million acres form less than a tenth of our country's total area. The rest has passed into private ownership.

It is private land ownership, more than anything else, that has made America the most conservative country in the world. Few men remain radical after they secure property wealth.

JAPS

Japan will attempt to reopen the immigration question, but not by outright exclusion, jingoes over there are talking very boldly.

In view of remote possibilities, it is just as well that only a tenth of one per cent of our population is Japanese—one student Jap to every 999 Americans.

Japanese business men, powerful in shaping diplomacy, ought to give it the whiphand enduringly. A return to militarism is possible but not probable at this stage of the game.

LUDENDORFF

How are the mighty fallen! General Ludendorff has been yecotted politically by nearly all the veterans' organizations of the old German army he led. The chief reason is support of monarchist movements. The republican spirit seems to be very strong in Germany—apparently strong enough to give it the whiphand enduringly. A return to militarism is possible but not probable at this stage of the game.

Justice usually is blind enough to overlook the derelictions of a man who is a financial power.

Vacation season is ended except for those who indulge in perpetual one.

It's the hot-headed fellow who usually winds up with defeat.

A SOLDIER OF THE CROSS

(St. Louis Post Dispatch)
Interesting figures stalk or slink across the stage set by the Chinese war, but none to compare with Feng Yuh-Siang, the "Christian general." He is making war in the most modern manner, with a fine disregard of casualties, and receiving success and rebuff with Oriental calm. How he was brought into the fold the news dispatches have failed to say, but his adherence to the faith is unquestioned. He requires all his soldiers to become Christians, even as himself. He converts them by companies and baptizes them by platoons, possibly with a fire hose. Each man is given a small pamphlet explaining the religion he has just espoused, and the Feng army then is considered to be spiritually equipped for war.

Quantity production in some lines is a modern development. Ford cars, weekly magazines, and cigarettes by the billions are late achievements. Gen. Feng's performance is a revival of a medieval custom. Even in the fifth century, when Clovis saw the light, he took Rheims and had himself baptized with him. Still Gen. Feng deserves credit for rescuing the custom from oblivion. If he runs for president of China on the Christian ticket we will support him.

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

All the Mother Goose people on Pippin Hill were so interested in the Riddle Lady's riddles that nobody had moved scarcely.

But after while Mrs. John insisted on serving tea in the orchard.

"It's quite correct to have tea at five, you know," she said, "and it will give your brains a rest."

So Tom Tucker had five sandwiches, and Jack Horner had three pieces of fruit cake and Miss Muffet had ever so many cups of tea, and everybody had a fine time.

The Riddle Lady was soon rested and she got ready to ask the next riddle.

"Is the next one to rhyme?" asked Nancy.

"I can make it either way," said the Riddle Lady. "I can make it to rhyme or not to rhyme. Whichever you like."

"Let's vote on it," suggested Mrs. John. "I never liked to vote but it seems to be the only way to find out just what people want."

"It's a good idea," said Mrs. Spratt. "Let's vote."

So Nancy and Nick took small pieces of paper and passed around to all the people on Pippin Hill and they wrote on them "yes" or "no" according to their views.

The yes's had it, and the Riddle Lady made her next riddle in rhyme. "It's not very hard," said she. "It is far easier than a cross-word puzzle, at least."

So she began:
"There is a chap who bothers us,
A teasing, freezing fellow,
He comes later in the autumn
And turns the leaves all yellow,
Shakes sugar on the pumpkin
And sugar on the grape,
But leaves the corn and all the flowers
In dreadfull shape.

He nips the rose and dahlia,
The golden rod and phlox,
And ruins all the tiny leaves
Of privet hedge and box.

He jumps upon the cat-tails all sleek
In velvet brown,
And slits their jackets up the back
And muzzles them with down.

He dusts the fences, firs and trees
With powder white as milk,
And slyly cracks the milk-weed pods
And spills out all the silk.

He spends the winter bragging about
The thing he does,
He paints designs on windows—
He dusts the fences, firs and trees
With powder white as milk,
And freezes hard the water in lily
pond and puddle.

And chuckles like a silly goose when things get in a muddle,
And all the little turtles and fishes
in the river,
Turn slowly into chunks of ice
and haven't room to shiver."

"Goodness! That's an easy one," said Mister Bunting. "It's Jack Frost I know. That's why I go hunting for rabbit skins in the fall—to keep him from nipping my family."

"Right!" said the Riddle Lady.

LETTER FROM MRS. MARY ALDEN

PRES-COTT TO LESLIE PRES-

"Of course," said Priscilla, "I did not care to listen but I was alone in the room just outside the office and, as Mrs. Burke seemed very much engaged, I did not want to disturb her, and so I kept perfectly still."

"The other woman seemed much disappointed," for she said, "I would not think that two such wealthy women as you and Mrs. Prescott would care to keep this shop."

At this Mrs. Burke got quite peevish. Priscilla said, "Because a man is wealthy does everyone think that he must always give up his livelihood or a prosperous business?" she asked with asperity.

The woman answered hesitatingly. "No, I suppose not, but it is different with a man. One hardly expects a woman to work if she does not have to. I have to work, Mrs. Burke, and I have a chance to invest some money in a going business, consequently I would be very glad to pay you the top price for yours."

Priscilla said that she knew that John did not know that you were a half partner in the business because whatever Walter Burke might let Ruth do, she knew that any son of mine would be too proud to have people know that his wife was in business for herself when he could support her.

Of course I am not going to say a word to John until I know that Priscilla was not mistaken. I can hardly believe that she was not, for it does not seem possible that any wife would keep a secret of any kind from her husband and this shop has been going on for over a year.

I shall miss Priscilla. She always brings me something new to think about, something that takes me out of myself and, although Miss Anderson makes me perfectly comfortable as far as my bodily needs are concerned, and is perhaps more optimistic than Priscilla, yet, as I say, I shall miss her. She is staying over for two or three days until I hear from you, as she wants to be perfectly certain if what she heard was the truth. Said she would not have told it to anyone else but me until she did know.

John has been in town 24 hours and except for a little call on the telephone, I can not understand what has changed my boy so much.

Let me hear from you soon.
YOUR HUSBAND'S MOTHER.

Telegram From Leslie Prescott To Ruth Burke
Jack's mother knows I own half the shop. If you think best, tell him. Otherwise I am sure that she will tell him and will make a great deal of trouble. Of course it was Priscilla Bradford that kicked up the fuss. Am very much worried.

"EMBARRASSING"
By Julia C. Moffitt
I am just a little girl of ten;
Folks expect so much of me; when
I play at games, so full of joy—
Folks exclaim, "Just like a boy."

Yet there are times when I'm all girl;
All my hair in ribbon and curl,
Dressed in ruffles; feeling so coy;
Still folks exclaim, "Just like a boy."

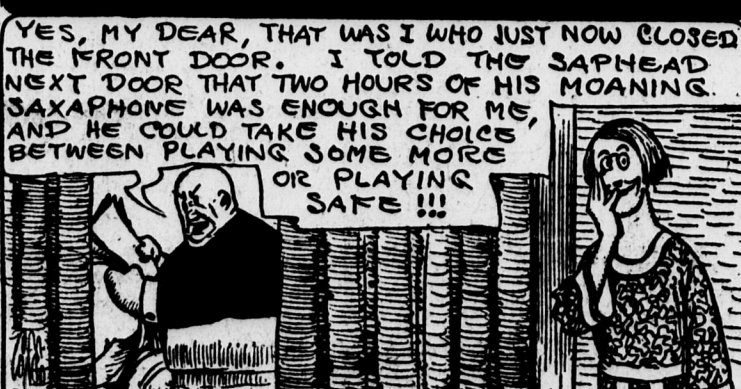

At times my mind to me reveals,
How bad a little boy most feels;
When folks say, "He's just like a girl,"
"Don't give a cent" he says with a whirl.

When I grow up, I often wonder,
Will folks still stop and ponder
And argue the question? Am I girl or boy?

I wish they'd stop; it spoils my joy.

EVERETT TRUE

BY CONDO

WHEN THEY READ YOUR WILL

By Albert Apple

Wills are the most interesting and human of all documents. A will lays bare the real character and mentality of its maker. When a man sits down with his lawyer and frames the communication that is not to be opened and read until the grave has claimed him he occasionally displays deep wisdom and even a stroke of genius.

We have in mind the late Max Benjamin of Brooklyn, N. Y. He bequeathed to his son a considerable fortune in worldly goods, then indicated that he considered a legacy of advice quite as valuable as a bequest of money:

"It is my wish that he marry only one of his faith, and that he marry before he is 30. I direct also that he invest $15,000 in a business, preferably in the drug line, and that he always be in a business from which he can earn the necessities and possibly the luxuries of life. I warn him not to neglect his health and to take a vacation summer and winter. He is to invest $50,000 in real estate—income property—and to hold the same as an investment and not as a speculation."

Every father should make a will even if he hasn't a dollar's worth of property. That which you have learned through bitter experience should be summed up in writing. No legacy could be more valuable.

A failure, in particular should make a will. In it he should tell why he did not succeed. If he has really found the reason and can indelibly impress it on his son, it may be a fortune in disguise.

The greatest thing we get out of life is experience. And it is a grave mistake to let that experience be buried with us instead of passing it along, together with our interpretation of what this strange journey called life really means.

After all, property or insurance is the least important of the things we can will to our children. The memory of a happy home, of parents to be revered, and a childhood spent in a healthful environment—these are legacies beyond price. So is an education, also wise guidance.

Who's the head of this house boat on New York's waterfront? And where are all these rugged, he-men of the sea? Here the husband is hanging out the wash. Many of these burly cabins are quite up-to-date—notice the radio aerial.

New York, Nov. 29.—With the first blasts of winter come many tales of great disaster in and about New York harbor, stories of men drowned and of men killed by exposure to wind and cold. But all winter water life here is not like that.

Many barge captains tie up for the winter right at the edge of the city. Their cabins are made weather tight and fuel is plentiful.

Their wives and daughters can be within the shopping district in a five-minute walk. During spring, summer and winter they move about from place to place, along the Jersey, New York and New England shores or up the Hudson river or Long Island Sound. It is only in winter that they have any permanency of abode and community life.

One pretty girl who lives with her mother and father on a barge at Pier 6 in East River works as a stenographer in a skyscraper a block or two away.

The other day when New York was whipped by a gale and the thermometer was tumbling a degree every minute or so the liner Monterey arrived from Havana and Vera Cruz. Many of the passengers were wearing straw hats and Palm Beach suits. Br!

"SCHOOL AGE" FOOD

When a school age has been reached particular attention to the food should be given.

A good breakfast is essential, a substantial mid-day meal and a lighter supper are advised by food experts.

Thus, an ideal food program for a school child would be something like this:

Cereal, well cooked. Milk with bread and butter. Eggs, bacon and fruit if desired.

Non meal: Bread and butter, milk, meat or fish or eggs. There should be two vegetables, at least, one of which should be potatoes. For dessert custard, ginger bread or cookies, or fruit are suggested.

In the evening a good suggestion is milk toast or rice or macaroni with bread and milk. Have some vegetable whether in soup or puree. Also eggs can be used in various forms. If not directly served they can be put in puddings or soups, or served pouched or scrambled. Have a simple dessert, such as ginger bread or stewed fruit.

French have invented a radio receiving set that can be carried in an umbrella.

IN BANKS, BANKS AND MORE BANKS

Seemingly, there's no end to the number of banks who get employees from Dakota Business College, Fargo. Pupils recently placed are: Harold Nohr, with Farmers Trust Co., Fessenden; John Stein, with Flora State Bank; Jacob Stein, with Farmers & Merchants Bank, Clementville; Mildred Russell, with Commercial Bank, Williston.

All Fargo Banks and 685 others employ "Dakotans." 227 D. B. C. graduates have become bank officers. Read results each week. "Follow the Successful"—Monday. Write F. L. Watkins, Pres., 606 Front St., Fargo.

"Curly-Head," Just 4, To Lead Blind Senator When He Takes Oath

By NEA Service
Minneapolis, Nov. 29.—Thomas D. Schall's four-year-old daughter, Betty, will guide him down the Senate aisle when he takes the oath of office in Washington next March.
For the man who defied Mayor James Johnson, "daddy" Schall, 47, progressive for one of Minnesota's seats in the upper house, is blind.
He has been blind 17 years.
An explosion of a gas light cost him his sight in 1907, three years after he had been out for two months here.
But his misfortune did not cause him to desert his law practice, but did it keep him from going into Congress once he decided he would.

Sees With Heart
Ever since his accident, his wife has been his eyes. But when the greatest honor of his career is conferred upon him, Schall is going to let Betty share it.
Often during his campaign speeches he has told the story of his blindness into his lap, rubbing her nose against his and saying:
"Daddy, can't you see me?"
To which he replied:
"No, little curly head, I can't."
Then after a moment of silence, so he reassured, she said:
"Well, your heart sees, me doesn't it, daddy?"
And he assured her it did.
One could almost hear a pin fall whenever he told this story to the voters.

Schall really is an orator. And he knows it.
"I have exceptional ability of public speech," he says. "I have a high voice in a position which acts as a sound in the ear and my jaw is hung on the words."
But no one could doubt that.
The reveal of sight throws a shadow on his understanding, and through his mind he would be feeling with the breadth of the intellect. And he will see and understand all things that are in his mind.

Dressed For Audience
Schall is a tall, thin man, with whom he talks to better to percent, always known as a "daddy" hit with the different classes. He has been called upon to address many occasions.
The family friends of the family rejoice with him.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren B. Lein, who have been in Bismarck for some time, and Mr. and Mrs. John Hansen, who have been in Tappan, are expected to arrive here on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Hansen spent Sunday at the Newland home, coming over to see some acquaintances with their new grandson.

Christ Olson of Butteville spent Monday until Wednesday with his brother Martin Olson.

CRITICS IN MANY CITIES PRAISE MISS FARRAR'S "CARMEN" VERSION

Geraldine Farrar's version of "Carmen," to be presented at the city Auditorium next Monday night, has scored a remarkable success in many of the large cities of the country, according to E. H. L. Vesperman, manager of the Auditorium. Among the cities in which it has won highest praise is Boston. The Boston Transcript paid a remarkable tribute to the showmanship of Miss Farrar in presenting the condensed version.
In addition to many fine artists, the company carries an 18-piece orchestra, Mr. Vesperman has been informed.

Newspaper reviews in the larger cities include:
The Detroit Free Press writes: "The star has gathered about her a supporting company of very adequate strength, the work of Luigi Pasquanti as Don Jose and Joseph Rayer, the Escamillo measuring well up to the high level on which the whole production has been planned, while Emma Nee who was heard in the role of Micaela, has a voice of great strength and purity."
"In keeping with the stage settings is the richness of the costumes. Here Miss Farrar has spared little, the color and dash of her garb for the final act creating wide comment."
"An excellent orchestra is provided for the tour, and Mr. Peroni read the score with vivid insight, bringing out every dramatic factor for the rearranged text. Incidental dances by four members of the troupe added to the spectacular features of the Fantasy."

YOUTHS CAN SHOW DANCING ELDERS A SHY, HONEST LOVE

BY CYNTHIA GREY
One of the most uncomfortable things in the world is to be 17.
We older folks talk a lot about "light-hearted" youth—but that's because we've forgotten a good many things about our own teens. Memory is a great faker.
As a matter of fact, 17 is the most melancholy time of life. Trifles that would be less than nothing at 20, are tragedies to 17—a home that's shabby, a suit that doesn't fit, a party invitation that didn't come.
There comes that moody and emotional liking of one young creature for another that we call "puppy love."

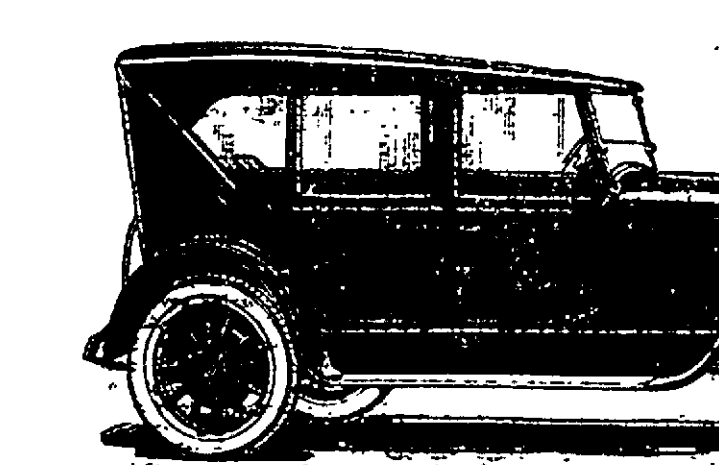

When your boy comes to you and says, "Mother, I'm going over to Clare's tonight. She's going to help me with my English theme," you will know that that's what is the matter with him—puppy love.
And a lot hangs upon the way you answer him: his attitude toward women all the rest of his life perhaps. For this is the time when your boy's character is growing.

Changes Parties
If he turned in the wrong direction, or his words did not carry through the hall, his wife would turn him to face the audience just right.
When Schall first lost his sight, his wife said:
"Well, Tom, we won't have to sell out just yet. We're going to keep on practicing law."
"You can try a lawsuit without your eyes as well as with them. People will trust a blind man if he has the ability just as quickly as a man with sight."

And so Schall stuck to his practice. His wife would do his reading and writing, and he would do the pleading.
So, too, has it been with him during the terms he served in Congress. Schall started out as a Democrat. In 1912 he became a Bull Moose. In 1914, he ran for Congress as a progressive, and was elected over the candidate of the old parties.
Campaigning in Illinois
Again in 1916 he was successful as an Independent. In 1918, he obtained the Republican nomination, and won his independence by voting against the war. He is a speaker of the old parties.

Bad weather also emphasizes the value of other features—the unfailing response, in extreme cold, of Dodge Brothers powerful starter, and the snug protection afforded by suitable curtain enclosures.
A special enclosure with glass windows, which will provide closed car appearance and comfort, is now available at slight additional cost.

John Beyer spent Wednesday and part of Thursday with his wife and little son Bobby at the Bismarck Hospital. He reports that his little son is doing well.

a boy wants to hold her hand long before the boy knows it himself. And it's that same intuition that tells her not to let him hold it! Just leave a well-brought-up girl and boy to themselves, and not much more harm will come to them than to two babies playing in a sand-pile. Very often if you forbid a boy or girl to "go around with" another boy or girl, those are the very ones that lure them most.
For youth is inquiring and stubborn. It's going to know why certain people aren't so desirable as others from a parent's standpoint, if possible.
I sat having dinner in a very gay restaurant the other night. At the next table were a smart young flapper and the type of boy we call the cake-eater.
The girl was rouged, the boy's patent-leather hair was shiny, and when they danced they danced extremely.
I listened to their conversation. The flapper, they were talking about radium!
"Don't you ever stay up to hear the 'Kansas City Night Hawks'?" the boy was saying.

At The Movies

THE CAPITOL
In the past several seasons William Fox has picked some of the choicest plums among those Broadway plays and presented them with even greater success on the screen. Among several big ones that this producer is offering for the season is "It Is The Law", which comes to the Capitol Theatre on Monday for a special engagement. "It Is The Law" earned its golden spurs on Broadway a season ago as one of the most thrilling and interesting melodramatic hits of that year. It is a story of mystery, romance and intrigue. It was first published as a novel, written by Hayden Talbot and gained such favor in that form that a well known New York theatrical producing firm commissioned no less a playwright than Elmer Rice to turn it into a stage play.

THE ELTINGE

HIGH SCHOOL ATHLETICS ARE STILL BANNED

Lead of Carrington Schools Lays Down Rules on Which They Will Resume

Carrington, Nov. 29.—Athletics will resume at the Carrington schools when the student athletes are willing to show that they will play according to rules and keep up in their studies.

This is, in effect, the stand taken by Paul H. Nagel, superintendent of schools, and it reflects the opinion of his high school principal, Gerrit Frandele, and members of the school board.

When interviewed on the prospects of having a basketball team at the school this season, Mr. Nagel said as firm in his stand taken when he was permitted to suspend a football team that would not obey playing rules, keep up in studies and work for the good of the school instead of personal glory. He said that he was anxious to have a basketball team and that athletics were a great asset to a community or to a school.

They were conducted along lines that benefitted the players instead of juring them. By this, he explains, at he meant that the aim of athletics is not only to win games, but to develop character, good sportsmanship, sound bodies and unselfishness.

Believes in Athletics

"The trouble with our high school athletics, I think, has been that the incentives have been lost. The interest must come from within the athlete himself if it is going to carry it through," Superintendent Nagel said. "The kind of athletics that interests me is that which leaves within the players enthusiasm for hard play. I want to see a boy play the game on its merits and feel that what he practices today will still be with him when he grows into the business world. If he can play the game today he will play it in later life."

"I am for anything in the world so long as it pays out not only in dollars but in good citizenship," Mr. Nagel said. "I believe in athletics and will do all in my power to help boys if they will stand by the rules and keep their lessons up to a satisfactory grade." He pointed out that there are more than 60 boys in the high school, and that there is the possibility of a splendid team each year, if they would follow the regulations laid down by the high school league of North Dakota.

Local High School Takes First Game

Bismarck High School's basketball team defeated Hazelton's team last night, 46 to 11.

The game was fairly fast. The first half ended 12 to 9 in favor of Bismarck, but in the second half the Bismarck team sped up, and ran the score to 46 while Hazelton was making all the field goals.

Shepherd, Lobach and Register did well for Bismarck. Lobach became high point man for both teams. Bismarck's lineup was as follows: Right forwards, Olson and Brown; left forwards, Hanson and Lobach; center, Register and Russell; right guard, Seroginski; left guard, Shepherd.

It was the first game of the season for the locals.

Billy Evans Says

Certain form reversals are almost impossible of explanation. Princeton's great showing against Harvard, followed a week later by a poor game against Yale, is one of them.

Princeton defeated Harvard most decisively 34 to 0. Harvard was a most a 2 to 1 favorite before the game.

In overwhelming the Crimson and Princeton showed a strong line and brilliant running attack. The pairings had two backfield combinations equally brilliant.

Princeton, because of its great day's work against Harvard, was favored by many of the experts to beat Yale. No one ever had a chance.

Although Yale won by the rather narrow margin of 10-0, Princeton outplayed in every department at the game.

Why should Princeton, a snarling Mager against Harvard, simply curl up and go to sleep? Form followers while being pondering the question dentier since.

Mr. At the Yale-Princeton game I learned that all was not well between Harvard and Princeton.

For several years it has been rumored that Harvard was seriously considering the dropping of Princeton from its football schedule.

Two years ago this feeling took concrete form on the eve of the Harvard-Princeton game, when a spent rain Harvard star, at a massed meeting, took Princeton to task for its methods pertaining to football and off the field.

It was rumored before the 1924 Monday night Harvard by Princeton, brother in case of a Harvard victory, Princeton would be eased out of the John D. picture.

The fierce Princeton attack in that little me may be explained by the disappointment the proposed dropping of Princeton stirred up.

Suffice it is to say that no Princeton

IF YOU CAN NAME A BETTER TEAM THAN THIS, GO TO IT!

CHAMPIONS

ton team ever so behaved in a Harvard game. It was the worst defeat the Tiger ever slipped John Harvard.

Since it is not customary to drop teams after a defeat, Princeton is certain to occupy a place on the Harvard schedule next season.

The Princeton-Yale and the Yale-Harvard games are two of the gridiron's classics.

There is much tradition and sentiment back of these two meetings. These games are a part of the college life of the institutions.

Yale and Princeton have met 47 times on the gridiron, while Harvard and Yale have clashed 12 times.

Back in the '90s Harvard and Yale had a dispute that led to a two-year break. Princeton and Harvard have missed many seasons but only a World War interrupted the Princeton-Yale meetings.

In some quarters it is hinted that alleged rough play on the part of Princeton is responsible for the lukewarm feeling of the Crimson for the Tiger.

*Football is not a parlor game, so it is hardly possible that Harvard would be seeking a way out on that score. Nevertheless it is a well-known fact in the east that all is not well in a football sense between the two universities.

Unquestionably Princeton was pointed for the Harvard game, physically and mentally.

In outclassing Harvard, Coach Bill Roper uncovered all his gridiron magic. The team gave everything it had.

The Princeton team that met Yale was a far different aggregation from the eleven that overwhelmed Harvard.

It had every evidence of being state when it came on the field and lived up to looks after the game got under way.

In addition, when Princeton resorted to the strategy that had been so successful against Harvard, it found Yale had a defense for everything.

Against Harvard, Princeton played like a team that refused to be beaten and wasn't. Against Yale it had no such fire. No doubt there's a good reason.

The Nut Cracker

ME. K. ROCKNE

The matter of naming the Grade A coach of the card-clipping and rib-tugging business is somewhat complicated because of the difficulty some people have in pronouncing Knute Rockne the right way.

Mr. Rockne may not be the great

With the defeat of Illinois by Minnesota, and the failure of any eleven in the east to rise to conspicuous heights, the tendency seems general to nominate Notre Dame as the champion football team of the year.

One expert wrote Knute Rockne's team is playing 1928 football while their opponents are still in the 1924 stage. Rockne is considered a leading exponent of the modern game.

est tutor of pigskin logic in the tax-ridden universe, but if he isn't sapphires make undesirable jewelry and snowdrifts are fine things to use for fuel.

It is said of Rockne that he can take eleven huskies who never saw a football and transform them into a winning combination.

This isn't giving him his full order of mercuries.

Mr. Rockne is the kind of coach who can take eleven unfilled uniforms, in fairly presentable condition, and make Walter Camp break down and sob, "Enough, enough!"

Every year he loses from five to eleven stars and looks up the following fall with a gang of head crushers strong enough to persuade an unmuzzled traffic cop to a fleeting moment of politeness.

Around Rockne are built no legends of mystifying systems or magical wizardry. The great simply knows his onions and on the face of the day's returns he seems to know them just a shade better than the rest of the field.

Moral victories are something which are not tolerated in the Rockne scheme. The Fighting Irish, including the Schwartzbergs, the Choy-nakes and the Coveleskies, are sent out to return with their headguards or in them.

One answer to Rockne's success is his willingness to try anything once. He doesn't wait to see how a square cornered deity will look on the other guy before trying one on his own noodle.

This is the era of the electric light, yet a lot of Rockne's rivals are still rearing the rules under the glare of a kerosene lamp.

In Paris Notre Dame is a cathedral in South Bend, Ind., it is a football team. . . . When you've seen one or both you have seen every thing.

Army and Navy Teams Clash

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 29.—Army and Navy, foes in the most colorful of midwinter spectacles, will clash in their 27th battle today to break the deadlock in the series which dates back to 1890.

Each service eleven has captured 12 games so far, while 2 have ended in ties. Last season, in the mud at the Polo Grounds, these rivals fought to gain the lead in the series but ended hostilities with a scoreless tie.

St. Paul Team May Be Kept By J. W. Norton

St. Paul, Nov. 29.—With two of the three parties bidding for the St. Paul baseball franchise out of the running and negotiations for the sale progressing slowly with the third, it appeared last night that John W. Norton, owner of the local American Association club, would be at the head of the team again in 1925.

Mr. Norton said last night that there had been no new developments in the sale of the Saints. He added, however, that it was now probable that no deal would be consummated.

He said that he was going ahead with plans for next season just as he would if he had definitely decided on retaining the franchise.

Nick Allen, manager of St. Paul in 1924, arrived here today and conferred with Mr. Norton just before the latter left for Hartford, Conn., to attend the baseball meetings there.

Allen was assured that present indications are that he will manage the Saints again in 1925.

Twenty-one states had teams entered.

The Nebraska team took second honors with Oklahoma third and Minnesota fourth.

The Missouri team took fifth place and the others followed in order: Colorado, North Dakota, Indiana, Arkansas, Michigan, Wisconsin, Pennsylvania, Iowa, Virginia, Ohio, Kentucky, West Virginia, Illinois, Georgia, Tennessee and Nevada.

Each team, representing an agricultural high school or some club organized under direction of the federal or state government was selected on an elimination basis in stock judging contests at their respective state fairs or under auspices of the state agricultural college.

N. D. Employees Risk Lives To Avoid Accident

Carrington, N. D., Nov. 29.—Two men, driving a state highway truck, risked their lives Tuesday evening when they drove their heavy automobile over the side of the road rather than hit a man and his team crossing the main road one mile east of Dover.

H. L. Bean, and Charles Dunahay, both of Bismarck, were severely shaken and bruised and their highway truck was badly damaged as a result of their act. They were driving east on their way to Carrington when a team started across the road at the intersection. The driver of the truck slowed down, and when the man handling the team reigned in, continued.

The driver of the truck changed his mind and whipped up the horses. In an effort to save the life of the other man and his horses they went over the grading. The men spent the night in Carrington and left Wednesday for Jamestown. The cab, radiator and cylinder head on the truck were ruined. The truck was heavily loaded. Bean and Dunahay said that the driver of the team did not return to see what happened to the occupants of the overturned car.

A cargo of 140 answers to the servant problem recently arrived upon the S. S. Lacomia alone.

From Donegal Bay, north of County Sligo, to the River Shannon, south of County Clare, the dark-haired, blue-eyed, pink-cheeked daughters of West Ireland's farm folk are in poverty-stricken exodus.

It seems as though the "wee feik" of the Irish tales were at some tragic prank.

What with a rain that has no ending, and the potatoes washed from the ground, and the deep, long, weary carrying of potatoes to market, and the great poverty and need have come upon Mayo, Galway and Clare.

All through Connought the same drama was being played in a thousand homes, each unknown to the other. With the mournful monotony of rain upon the roofs, each family was determining that someone must go out into the world. The number of mouths to feed must be lessened and some money must come from somewhere.

"Fannies must be scraped for the fares and a little borrowing here and there; a little money from friends in America—a few tears shed—from Donegal Bay to the Shannon's shore the scene was repeated.

"Ay, and it was not one of us that knew the other was coming," explained Margaret Egan, of Killybeg, County Clare, when the sudden influx of Irish maids for domestic work attracted attention. "Ten of us there were, and I was fond of the home and hated to be leaving."

Meanwhile what is a tragedy to West Ireland is a joy to the American housewife. In the east the question of domestic help has been a particularly keen one. Every girl arriving had an assured position before the ship landed.

So it seemed as though a rainbow had swung across New York harbor giving assurance that it "ain't" going to rain no more.

"I DON'T CARE WHO PUNCHES ME?"

That's What Department Store Time-Coach Says to Millionaires' Sons, Starting at Bottom

By NEA Service

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 29.—A time-clock is a democratic device. Its mechanical face looks out impersonally upon the punchings of the shop girl and the prize salesman.

It would make no difference, for instance, that the sons of two multimillionaires had become regular visitors, punching in and punching out. And that is the way Raymond Mellen and Charles H. Sabin, Jr., would have both the time clock and the world view that appearances at the bottom of the business ladder as clerks, counter boys, or what-have-you at the W. M. Whitney Co. store here.

They wish merely to be considered two young men trying to learn the business game.

They are seeking to be, in all regards, sons of their fathers. Now their fathers happen to be Charles H. Sabin, internationally known banker of New York, and Charles Mellen, president of the New York, New Haven and Hartford, now of Stockbridge, Mass.

So it was no more than natural that a stir would be caused when they appeared shuffling boxes in a stock room, or seeking to convince a customer that a blue tie would be preferable to a green one.

But, they recall, their fathers started in small jobs and worked up, why should not they? So they have taken a modest room in a boarding house, double up in it and "get enough salary to keep us going."

"Sure, I like it," says young Mellen, a graduate of Williams College. "Why shouldn't I? The only way to get a business training is to see the thing from the inside and to see all angles. My job is anything that happens to give me that will teach me something. Yes, we keep the regular store hours and ask no favors."

Thus far they have swept floors, marked Christmas toys and opened packing boxes.

Also, whether they were conscious of it, they have created no end of chatter among the store girls. For wherever there are Claude Llos there will be dreams of golden coaches and fairy princesses.

Cargo of 140 Fair Answers Come From Erin. Poverty-Stricken By Long Rains

Margaret Egan, with a background of colleens on shipboard.

BY GENE COHN
NEA Service Writer

New York, Nov. 29.—Six months of seemingly ceaseless rain along the bleak west coast of Ireland is sweeping to American shores such a flood of maid-servants as this country has not seen in a generation.

A cargo of 140 answers to the servant problem recently arrived upon the S. S. Lacomia alone.

From Donegal Bay, north of County Sligo, to the River Shannon, south of County Clare, the dark-haired, blue-eyed, pink-cheeked daughters of West Ireland's farm folk are in poverty-stricken exodus.

It seems as though the "wee feik" of the Irish tales were at some tragic prank.

ROUNDUP TRACK IS PURCHASED

Killdeer, N. D., Nov. 29.—A deal was just consummated whereby Sam Rhoades became the owner of the 160 acre tract upon which the Roundup was held at the Killdeer Mountains last year. Mr. Rhoades will fence the entire acreage with a good fence and otherwise improve it. The land was owned by Mike Cuskelly.

Sam has already bought forty head of horses, most of them being the Porter bunch, notorious as the worst outlaw critters in the west. None of them have seen a branding iron or been inside a corral for the past six years. Many of them have never had a branding iron on them. They are the nearest approach to native wild horses possible, having roamed the badlands at will, unhindered and unmolested winter and summer.

Sam assures the whole world that the Roundup next year will be better and bigger than ever.

FARM HOME BURNED

Fire of unknown origin completely destroyed the farm home on the J. A. Locke place two miles south of Hensler during Wednesday night causing a loss of approximately $3,000, on which insurance of $1,800 was carried.

Mr. and Mrs. Locke were sleeping in the original log homestead shack close by and were awakened by the smoke and flare of the flames. However, the fire had spread to such an extent that all they could do was to stand by and protect other farm buildings. The home which burned was being made ready for a tenant who was soon to take over the farm.

HELD FOR ASSAULT

Michael Scholl, charging that he was beaten up and assaulted by Jacob Landeis, who, it is alleged, used or threatened to use a knife to stab him, appeared before States Attorney L. H. Connolly and swore out a warrant for the arrest of Landeis. The men clashed at Flasher following an argument over the price of an automobile tire. The hearing will be held Saturday before Justice G. L. Olson.

BREAKS SHOULDER

Hal Wall, plasterer employed by Redding and Hanson in the construction of the Connolly Motor company, suffered a broken shoulder on Wednesday evening when he fell from a scaffolding while at work on the ceiling of the new showroom being installed.

Cynthia Grey Says:

HAVE YOU EVER BEEN THIRTY?

Balzac once carelessly tossed off the remark that a woman is most beautiful when she's 30. Any woman can tell you that it's also the time to buy a set of reducing records, a childish bob, and the best cold cream on the market.

Nothing is more awful than being 30 unless it's being 31. It's the death of your real youth and it's death in another way; you have to face it alone.

It is the day when you must forever decide whether to have a weekly mud pack and meet the flapper on her own ground or turn to the more serious things of life.

Behind you are the carefree twenties when nothing mattered, and ahead of you are the splendid thirties when nothing matters any way. But right here is the moment when if you are frivolous and wise you will weed all the baby blues and innocent pinks from your clothes closet, and become an interesting woman.

You will lay in a more subtle brand of perfume. You will learn to flatter the eternal masculine if you would still have an occasional heavy date with him.

QUESTIONS—ANSWERS

Dear Miss Grey: I've been married for two years and, although I love my husband, I've been most unhappy. We live with my husband's parents and whenever we two have a disagreement they side with him. I know they dislike me. What would you do—leave? GRACE M.

Of course, I would, but I'd take my husband along, too. No house is big enough for two families. And while all married couples have little tiffs they're soon over when there's no audience.

Dear Miss Grey: What shall I do when the man I'm in love with wants to kiss me "goodnight?" We are not engaged. TROUBLED.

Tell him you're not going to cheapen yourself by kissing any man but the man you marry. He'll think much more of you than he will if you let him make love to you casually.

Dear Miss Grey: I have a sister 28 years old who is going to marry a man only 25. Don't you think he's too young for her? BOB.

No. Three years isn't enough difference to make any difference at all. The fact that they're in love with each other is the important thing.

THE STATE'S OLDEST NEWSPAPER
(Established 1873)

FINANCING THE STATE MILL
The board of managers of the state-owned flour mill and elevator, meeting in Grand Forks earlier in the week with the majority of the state industrial commission, is said to have considered the question of future financing of the enterprise. An examination of the situation made here is sufficient to disclose that some positive action on the part of the forthcoming session of the legislature will be necessary.

It will be an excellent opportunity for presentation of a near-cut, straightforward policy in reference to this institution, which is taking so much of the taxpayers' money.

The state mill and elevator is a unique institution—it has no capital stock. Perhaps its progenitors expected that would make money from the very start, and did not need any capital stock. But before it started its entire equipment and buildings were mortgaged. The major method of financing provided was to mortgage the grain and flour. After it had been bought and made. The only other sources at revenue have been to borrow from the Bank of North Dakota or private banks, without security.

The legislature will have to authorize the issuance of mortgage bonds—bonds on which the mill obtains the major portion of its operating capital. To get other funds will have to dig deeper into the Bank of North Dakota. The legislature will have to try and levy a tax to get funds for the bank. If the mill is to run, the better course would be for the legislature to levy a tax of $1,000,000 to be used for the mill and elevator. The taxpayer must pay for the long run if the mill loses; to levy a tax to give it the vital would be an ever-present reminder to the taxpayers the load the institution has become on his pocketbook.

The legislature may well set a limit upon the extent to which it is willing to finance the further "experiment" at Grand Forks. The "experiment" would satisfy most individuals—would have bankrupt them by this time. If this bill is to run, let it run on tax money in such a way that all the people will know it is being operated on tax money. It must run, let the legislature say to the management: Take a million dollars of tax money, and when this is gone close up the mill.

In the difficulties of the situation being faced, there is at least hope that equivocation on the subject of this enterprise may cease, and a straight and honest course outlined.

MOVIES
The Chicago has a movie theater seat for every 18 of its population. Figuring three shows a day, with reels changed twice a week, about half the population must attend regularly. Probably typical of the situation nationally. What on earth did we ever do for amusement before the movies came? In a cream "socials" and picnics would seem very dull to most people now.

Over half of Chicago movie theaters have disappeared in the last eight years. This tendency is toward super-theaters, featuring elaborate productions. The neighborhood movie, however, will be a permanent institution—until we get our movies by radio, production costs endowed by government and philanthropists.

STIMULANT
Sugar was fed to Yale's soccer team to increase the physical energy of the players. The purpose was mainly to Adorify the theory that depletion of the supply of sugar in the blood is what causes exhaustion of athletes. Professors' results were "noticeable but not convincing."
Maybe we are gliding into the time when athletes will be fed sugar products, medicated before contests. Skill and stamina count more than brute strength, however, and these lie beyond the reach of the chemist.

PUBLIC LAND
Uncle Sam now owns only about 187 million acres of public lands, not counting forest reserves and Indian and "Indian" reservations in continental United States. These 187 million acres form less than a tenth of our country's total land. The rest has passed into private ownership.
It is private land ownership, more than anything else, that has made America the most conservative country in the world. Few men remain radical after they secure property wealth.

JAPS
Japan will attempt to reopen the immigration question, blighted by outright exclusion, jingoes over there are blithering very boldly.
In view of remote possibilities, it is just as well that only the death of one per cent of our population is Japanese—one percent to every 999 Americans.
Japanese business men, powerful in shaping diplomacy, do not forget that the United States is their best customer.

LUDENDORFF
How are the mighty fallen! General Ludendorff has been forgotten politically by nearly all the veterans' organizations of the old German army he led. The chief reason is support of monarchist movements. The republican spirit seems to be very strong in Germany—apparently strong enough to give it the whiphand enduringly. A return to militarism is possible but not probable at this stage of the game.

Justice usually is blind enough to overlook the derelict chains of a man who is a financial power.

Vacation season is ended except for those who indulge in a perpetual one.

It's the hot-headed fellow who usually winds up with his feet.

A SOLDIER OF THE CROSS
(St. Louis Post Dispatch)
Interesting figures stalk or slink across the stage set by the Chinese war, but none to compare with Feng Yuh-shiang, the "Christian general." He is making war in the most modern manner, with a fine disregard of casualties, and receiving success and rebuff with Oriental calm. How he was brought into the fold the news dispatches have failed to say, but his adherence to the faith is unquestioned. He requires all his soldiers to become Christians, even as himself. He converts them by platoons, possibly with a fire hose. Each man is given a small pamphlet explaining the religion he has just espoused, and the Feng army then is considered to be spiritually equipped for war.
Quantity production in some lines is a modern development. Ford cars, weekly magazines, and cigarettes by the billions are late achievements. Gen. Feng's performance is a revival of a medieval custom. Even in the fifth century, when Clovis saw the light, he took Rheims and had them baptized with him. Still Gen. Feng deserves credit for regaining the custom from oblivion. If he runs for president of China on the Christian ticket we will support him.

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

All the Mother Goose people on Pippin Hill were so interested in the Riddle Lady's riddles that nobody had moved securely.

But after while Mrs. John insisted on serving tea in the orchard. "It's quite correct to have tea at five, you know," she said, "and it will give your brains a rest."

So Tom Tucker had five sandwiches, and Jack Horner had three pieces of fruit cake and Miss Muffet had ever so many cups of tea, and everybody had a fine time.

The Riddle Lady was soon rested and she got ready to ask the next riddle. "Is the next one to rhyme?" asked Nancy.

"I can make it either way," said the Riddle Lady. "I can make it to rhyme or not to rhyme. Whichever you like."

"Let's vote on it," suggested Mrs. John. "I've never liked to vote but it seems to be the only way to find out just what people want."

"It's a good idea," said Mrs. Spratt. "Let's vote."

So Nancy and Nick took small pieces of paper and passed around to all the people on Pippin Hill and they wrote on them "yes" or "no" according to their views.

The yes's had it, so the Riddle Lady made her next riddle in rhyme. "It's not very hard," said she. "It is far easier than a cross-word puzzle at least."

So she began: "There is a chap who bothers us, a teasing, freezing fellow, He comes late in the autumn and turns the leaves all yellow, Shakes sugar on the pumpkin and sugar on the grape."

But leaves the corn and all the flowers in dreadful shape, He is in dreadful shape, and 'dublia, the golden-rod and phlox, And ruins all the tiny leaves of privet hedge and box.

He jumps upon the cat-tails all sleek in velvet brown, And slits their jackets up the back and muzzles them with down. He dusts the fences, fields and trees with powder white as milk, And spits out all the silk.

He spends the winter bragging about the thing he does, He paints designs on window-frames great ferns of misty fuzz. He freezes hard the water in lily pond and puddle.

And chuckles like a silly goose when things get in a muddle, And all the little turtles and fishes in the river.

Turn slowly into chunks of ice and haven't room to shiver. "Goodness," That's an easy one," said Mister Bunting. "It's Jack Frost I know. That's why I go hunting for rabbit skins in the fall—to keep him from nipping my family." "Right!" said the Riddle Lady. (To Be Continued)

Is This Your Birthday

SATURDAY, NOV. 29.—Astrological readings for this day give warning to those whose birthday arrives to be cautious in selecting friends, and to be careful not to encourage enemies.

Quick of temper, although lovable in phlegm moments, those born this day are quite apt to say and do many things that will work them harm.

To encourage fickleness is to encourage trouble. Select a goal in life and strive to reach it.

SUNDAY, NOV. 30.—If the stars were to speak to you they would tell you that you are defeating the success that comes with a strong personality and lovable nature by permitting yourself to become too headstrong.

Permit others to have their own views on a subject and continue on your own path in love and business, and you will find success plenteous.

You have the making of too fine a character to be held back by something that can be easily overcome.

LETTER FROM MRS. MARY ALDEN PRESCOTT TO LESLIE PRESCOTT, CONTINUED

"Of course," said Priscilla, "I did not care to listen but I was alone in the room just outside the office and, as Mrs. Burke seemed very much engaged, I did not want to disturb her, and so I kept perfectly still."

"The other woman seemed much disappointed for she said, 'I would not think that two such wealthy women as you and Mrs. Prescott would care to keep this shop.'"

At this Mrs. Burke got quite preachy, Priscilla said. "Because a man is wealthy does everyone think that he must always give up his life work or a prosperous business?" she asked with asperity.

"No, I suppose not, but it is different with a man. One hardly expects a woman to work if she does not have to. I have to work, Mrs. Burke, and I have a chance to invest some money in a going business, consequently I would be very glad to pay you the top price for your."

Priscilla said that she knew that John did not know that you were a half partner in the business because whatever Walter Burke might tell Ruth do, she knew that any son of mine would be too proud to have people know that his wife was in business for herself when he could support her.

Of course I am not going to say a word to John until I know that Priscilla was not mistaken. I can hardly believe that she was not, for it does not seem possible that any wife would keep a secret of one's life from her husband and this shop has been going on for over a year.

I shall miss Priscilla. She always brings me something new to think about, something that takes me out of myself and, although Mrs. Anderson makes me perfectly comfortable as far as my bodily needs are concerned, and is perhaps more optimistic than Priscilla, yet, as I say, I shall miss her. She is staying over for two or three days until I hear from you, as she wants to be perfectly certain if what she heard was the truth. And she would not have told it to anyone else but me until she did know.

John has been in town 24 hours and except for a little call on the telephone, I can not understand what has changed my boy so much. Let me hear from you soon.

YOUR HUSBAND'S MOTHER.

Telegram From Leslie Prescott To Ruth Burke

Jack's mother knows I own half the shop. If you think best, tell him. Otherwise I am sure that she will tell him and will make a great deal of trouble. Of course it was Priscilla Bradford that kicked up the fuss. Am very much worried.

EMBARRASSING

By Julia C. Moffitt
I am just a little girl of ten; folks expect so much of me; I play at games, so full of joy—Folks exclaim, "Just like a boy."

Yet there are times when I'm all girl; All my hair in ribbon and curl, Dressed in ruffles; feeling so coy; Still folks exclaim, "Just like a boy."

At times my mind to me reveals, How had a little boy most feels; When folks say, "He's just like a girl," "Don't give a cent," he says with a whirl.

When I grow up, I often wonder, Will folks still stop and ponder And argue the question? Am I girl or boy; I wish they'd stop; it spoils my joy.

WHEN THEY READ YOUR WILL

By Albert Apple

Wills are the most interesting and human of all documents. A will lays bare the real character and mentality of its maker. When a man sits down with his lawyer and frames the communication that is not to be opened and read until the grave has claimed him he occasionally displays deep wisdom and even a stroke of genius.

We have in mind the late Max Benjamin of Brooklyn, N. Y. He bequeathed to his son a considerable fortune in worldly goods, then indicated that he considered a legacy of advice quite as valuable as a bequest of money:

"It is my wish that he marry only one of his faith, and that he marry before he is 30. I direct also that he invest $15,000 in a business, preferably in the drug line, and that he always be in a business from which he can earn the necessities and possibly the luxuries of life. I warn him not to neglect his health and to take a vacation summer and winter. He is to invest $50,000 in real estate—income property—and to hold the same as an investment and not as a speculation."

Every father should make a will even if he hasn't a dollar's worth of property. That which you have learned through bitter experience should be summed up in writing. No legacy could be more valuable.

A failure, in particular should make a will. In it he should tell why he did not succeed. If he has really found the reason and can indelibly impress it on his son, it may be a fortune in disguise.

The greatest thing we get out of life is experience. And it is a grave mistake to let that experience be buried with us instead of passing it along, together with our interpretation of what this strange journey called life really means.

After all, property or insurance is the least important of the things we can will to our children. The memory of a happy home, of parents to be revered, and a childhood spent in a healthful environment—these are legacies beyond price. So is an education, also wise guidance.

Who's the head of this house boat on New York's waterfront? And where are all these rugged, h-men of the sea? Here the husband is hanging out the wash. Many of these barge cabins are quite up-to-date—notice the radio aerial.

New York, Nov. 28.—With the first blasts of winter come many tales of great disaster in and about New York harbor, stories of men drowned and of men killed by exposure to wind and cold. But all winter water life here is not like that.

Many barge captains tie up for the winter right at the edge of the city. Their cabins are made weather tight and fuel is plentiful.

Their wives and daughters can be within the shopping district in a five-minute walk. During spring, summer and winter they move about from place to place, along the Jersey, New York and New England shores or up the Hudson river or Long Island Sound. It is only in winter that they have any permanent abode and community life.

One pretty girl who lives with her mother and father on a barge at Pier 6 in East River works as a stenographer in a skyscraper a block or two away.

The other day when New York was whipped by a gale and the thermometer was tumbling a degree every minute or so the liner Monterey arrived from Havana and Vera Cruz. Many of the passengers were wearing straw hats and Palm Beach suits. Br!

"SCHOOL AGE" FOOD

When a school age has been reached particular attention to the food should be given.

A good breakfast is essential, a substantial mid-day meal and a lighter supper are advised by food experts.

Thus, an ideal food program for a school child would be something like this:

Cereal, well cooked. Milk with bread and butter. Eggs, bacon and fruit if desired.

Noon meal: Bread and butter, milk, meat or fish or eggs. There should be two vegetables, at least, one of which should be potatoes. For dessert custard, ginger bread or cookies, or fruit are suggested.

In the evening a good suggestion is milk toast or rice or macaroni with bread and milk. Have some vegetable whether in soup or puree. Also eggs can be used in various forms. If not directly served they can be put in puddings or soups, or served poached or scrambled. Have a simple dessert, such as ginger bread or stewed fruit.

French have invented a radio receiving set that can be carried in an umbrella.

CATTLE, SHEEP RECEIPTS DROP, PRICES BETTER

Hog Market, However, Is Unaffected by Dropping off in the Receipts

WHEAT TAKES LITTLE SPURT

Fear of Frost in Argentina Helps Market

Chicago, Nov. 29.—(By the A. P.)—Livestock marketing was curtailed somewhat this week on account of the Thanksgiving day interruption and while the dropping off of receipts proved beneficial for cattle and sheep the run of hogs appeared more than ample to meet current demands and some net price declines have been recorded during the period under review, says the weekly review of the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture.

Receipts in the cattle division were very plain and from all indications heralded the windup of the fall shipping season, both from western ranges and local pastures. Most killing classes advanced unevenly, 25 to 50 cents, while steer and feeder values closed steady to strong on plainer kinds and around 25 cents higher on better grades. Grass-fat steers and yearlings consisting mostly of low-grade offerings sold from $4.75 to $6.00 at the close with a few dry-feds this week up to $11.00. Fat she-stock finished mainly at $3.00 to $5.00; canners and cutters $2.25 to $3.00; bullock bulls $2.25 to $3.50; stockers and feeders $4.00 to $5.75. Strictly good and choice feeders are saleable from 6.00 to $7.00. Best light and handyweight feeding lambs sold mostly at $7.50.

The hog market is closing with average losses of around 25 cents compared with a week ago. Better grades of 200 to 300 pound butchers closed at $8.50 to $8.60, extreme top of $8.71 on two loads strictly choice heavy butchers Friday. Lighter weights and mixed kinds sold from $7.75 to $8.25 with 130 to 150 pound averages from $6.50 to $7.50. Slaughter pigs closed mostly $6.00 to $6.50, bulk good feeders $6.00.

The fat lamb market advanced even more rapidly than it declined last week and the bulk of good, light and handyweight fat lambs closed at $13 to $14.00, or $1.00 higher than a week ago, and at the high point for the season to date. Sheep shared in the rise, scoring upturns of 25 to 35 cents. Light and handyweight fat ewes finishing at $7.50 to $7.75 with one-load choice western ewes registering a new high mark for the season Friday at $8.00. Feeding material has been scarce, good to choice range feeders being saleable at $13.50 to $13.75.

South St. Paul receipts of livestock for the current month total approximately 120,000 cattle, 42,000 calves, 360,000 hogs and 85,000 sheep, compared with a run of 98,000 cattle, 41,000 calves, 408,000 hogs and 82,000 sheep in November, 1923.

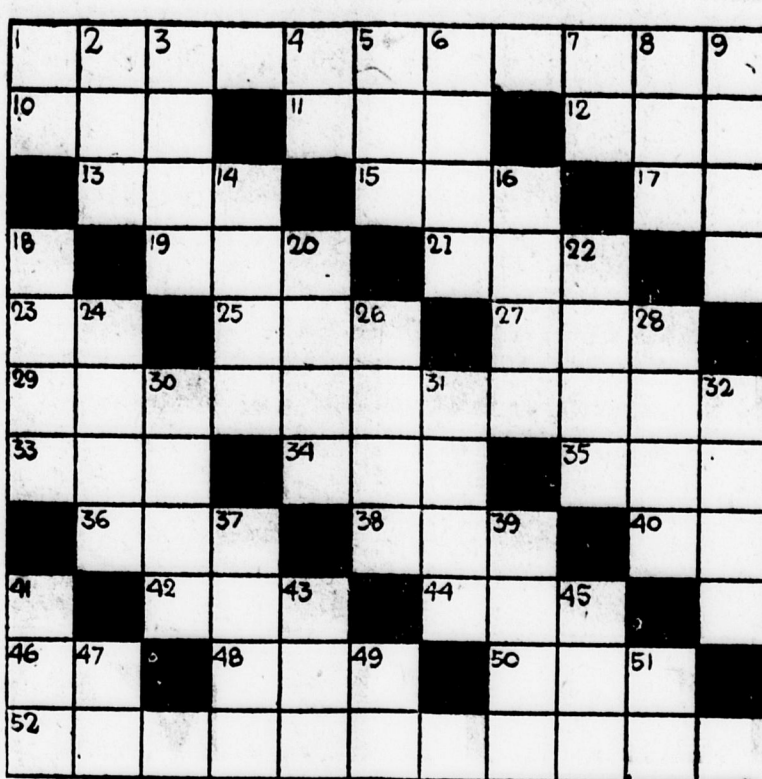

Today's receipts were cattle 1,600, calves 200, hogs 390, sheep 300.

WHEAT TAKES LITTLE SPURT

Fear of Frost in Argentina Helps Market

Chicago, Nov. 29.—End of the month adjustment of accounts weakened the wheat market today at the close. Liberal deliveries Monday on December contract were looked for but were expected to pass into strong hands. The market closed unsettled at 5c net decline to 1c advance. December $1.34 1/2 to $1.51 and May $1.62 1/2 to 1c.

Chicago, Nov. 29.—(By the A. P.)—Fear of additional frost in Argentina tended to lift wheat prices today in early dealings. The opening, which ranged from 3-8 cents decline to 1-4 cents advance, with Dec. $1.54 to $1.54 1/2 and May $1.62 1/2 to 7-8 was followed by a general upturn to well above yesterday's finish and then something of a reaction, especially for December.

SILVER FOX INDUSTRY IS BEING BOOMED

Dickinson, N. D., Nov. 29.—For the past week a steady stream of interested people have been visiting the first Silver Fox Ranch west of the Missouri in our state. Richardson takes pride in being the pioneer town in fox raising in this part of the country.

Dr. Schwinghamer who has interest in other ranches and who has for several years been an observer and student of industry, made a special trip last winter to Prince Edward Island, the birthplace of the fox industry. While there he purchased for the Richardson ranch some of the highest scoring animals which had been raised on the island. The foxes were left on Prince Edward Island because it was too late in the season to move them.

Last week the doctor arrived with the Richardson foxes and also four pairs of his own animals. Since then many people have become interested in these beautiful creatures. The ranch is constructed on the newest and most up-to-date plan possible. Both steel and wooden

Dickinson, N. D., Nov. 29.—For the past week a steady stream of interested people have been visiting the first Silver Fox Ranch west of the Missouri river. Late Richardson likes prize being the pioneer town in Texas raising this part of the country.

Dr. Schwaninger who has interest in other ranches and who has for several years been an observer and student of industry, made a special trip last winter to Prince Edward Island, the birthplace of the fox industry. While there he purchased for the Richardson ranch some of the highest scoring animals which had been raised on the island.

The foxes were left on Prince Edward Island because it was too late in the season to move them.

Last week the doctor arrived with the Richardson foxes and also four pairs of his own animals. Since then many people have become interested in these beautiful creatures.

The ranch is constructed on the newest and most up-to-date plan possible. Box, steel and wooden pens have been used. The new double pen with its advantageous runway and securely built kennels form part of the interesting new features in this ranch.

Of the students who enter West Point Military Academy, only 60 per cent are ever graduated.

AUTHORITIES ARE SILENT IN MURDER CASE

Must Examine One More Witness, Says District Attorney Thompson

San Gabriel, California, Nov. 29.—Sheriff W. A. Shay and Deputy District Attorney Thompson left here today without revealing what new evidence of importance they had obtained through a second autopsy on the body of William R. Fee, slain bank president, or through the opening of a safe deposit box held jointly by Fee and Miss Mary Watkins, an affectionate friend, near whose San Bernardino mountain cabin, his body was found late Tuesday.

"We must examine one more witness whom I am not free to name," said Thompson, "before I can tell whether our work here will help to solve the mystery of Fee's death. This witness will be examined in San Bernardino today and on what he has to say will depend our future plan of action."

Fee's will was taken from his personal safety deposit and was found to bequest his estate to his widow and his daughter. The box that he had held jointly with Miss Watkins contained many letters and documents, most of which were returned to Mrs. Fee or Miss Watkins.

OFFICIALS OF MAXWELL SEE HUGE DEMAND

Detroit, Nov. 29.—Officials of the Maxwell Motor Corporation are declaring today that the nation-wide reception being accorded Walter P. Chrysler's latest creation, the new good Maxwell, is the greatest and most enthusiastic ever given a Maxwell product. It is even more enthusiastic than the reception given the first good Maxwell three years ago. Thousands upon thousands of persons—the motoring public, automobile distributors and dealers, automobile factory representatives and factory executives from practically every motor car company, together with hundreds of newspaper and automobile trade publication men—have swarmed to the Maxwell-Chrysler showrooms throughout the country to see the line of cars that publicity proclaims to be without a peer among four cylinder motor cars in the world, and from which, he adds, results have been achieved which surpass those hitherto attained from any four cylinder car. The tremendous and outspoken enthusiasm with which the public has greeted the new Maxwell permits us to arrive at but one conclusion," J. E. Fields, vice-president in charge of sales, said yesterday, "and that is that the new car is making just as profound a sensation as did the Chrysler itself. The reception being accorded it reminds me of that given the Chrysler last winter, when that car created the beginning of a demand that we have never been able to meet."

CAR SERVICE IS IMPORTANT

Why should there be twice as many establishments servicing cars as there are establishments selling cars?

F. E. Lahr of the Lahr Motor Sales Co. says that it means simply that some car dealers have failed to properly meet their responsibility for the cars they sell.

"When any car owner has to go somewhere else for the cooperation, counsel and service that make for satisfaction in ownership, the man who sold him the car did not deliver all that the world today expects of a car dealer," says F. E. Lahr. "More and more people are looking to the local dealer for low operating cost, satisfactory performance, and entire responsibility for satisfaction in ownership and they have a right to."

FAHAY MURRAY GET 25 YEARS

Convicted in Connection With Train Robbery

Chicago, Nov. 29.—(By the A. P.) William J. Fahay, former postoffice inspector, and James Murray, a local politician, recently convicted in connection with the two million dollar mail train robbery at Roundout, Illinois, last June 12, were sentenced to 25 years in the federal prison at Atlanta, by Federal Judge Cliffe today.

Sentencing of Fahay and Murray, the convicted arch-plotters of what has been called the "greatest train robbery" followed denial of new trials to Murray and Fahay.

Sentencing of Willis, Willie, Jessie and Joseph Newton and Brent Glasscock, the latter in charge of the actual robbery, was deferred until Monday by Judge Cliffe.

TOTAL SENTENCES 177 YEARS
Chicago, Nov. 29.—Prison sentences aggregating 177 years—the limit of legal punishment—were imposed by Federal Judge Cliffe today on William Fahay, former postoffice inspector, and James Murray, local politician, convicted of plotting the $2,000,000 mail robbery at Roundout, Illinois, last June 12. The judge, however, stipulated that the sentences should run concurrently so that the actual maximum sentence to be served by each is 25 years.

ARMENIA EAGER TO ENCOURAGE HER FARMERS TO GROW COTTON

Erivan, Armenia, Nov. 29.—American methods of cotton growing are being introduced into Armenia. A new cotton factory equipped with modern American machinery has just been completed in Erivan. At the present time more than 40,000 acres of cotton are under cultivation. This is 40 times greater than the acreage under cultivation in 1921. The Armenian government expects this year to produce 30,000,000 pounds of raw cotton. One factory in Erivan has an output of nearly 2,000,000 pounds a month. In order to encourage farmers to cultivate their own cotton fields, the government is allotting them

All America Has Taken The Chrysler To Its Heart

The Chrysler Six sells itself every time it exhibits its dashing appearance on road or highway. The contrast between it and other cars is so marked that the desire to own one is bred then and there. But that desire is as nothing compared to the delight induced later on. If its only charm were the charm of appearance, the attraction would soon wear off. But the Chrysler is just as unusually attractive as it looks. One after another it reveals these unusual qualities even before it gets under way. Just to sit in the car and look about reveals first a quality all Americans love—compactness, conservation of space, neatness, artistry and a complete elimination of unnecessary elements. You look up from the cradling comfort of the Chrysler as you pass other cars and almost laugh. You see needless height, needless bulk, needless weight, needless length as you never saw them before. Your motor is as compact as the car itself—a jeweled watch with the busiest, most alert, most effective flow of power you ever experienced. Your whole motoring world is changed for you—delightfully changed, economically changed, efficiently changed. That the American people have taken the Chrysler to their hearts is no surprise at all—it is a very natural, logical thing. They are almost extravagantly enthusiastic about the Chrysler because the Chrysler has shown them delights in motoring they have never known before.
